Berrien Teacher Is 'Miss Michigan'

Pert Pianist Headed For Atlantic City

By LARRY MACINTYRE
Staff Writer

BERRIEN CENTER — The Earl Hansen family of Berrien Center will be in Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 6-11, for a very special reason. Their daughter, 23-year-old Diane Kaye Hansen, will be representing Michigan in the annual Miss America pageant to be held there then.

Miss Hansen earned the right to represent the state when she was crowned Miss Michigan for 1976 Saturday night in Muskegon before an audience of 4,000 people in the L.C. Walker arena. Representing Berrien and Cass counties, Miss Hansen was chosen from a field of 32 entries.

A 5-foot-7 brunette with brown eyes, Miss Hansen is a science and social studies teacher at the Eau Claire middle school. She lives at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hansen, in Berrien Center, who said they would be with her in Atlantic City.

Miss Hansen also won the talent competition with her piano recital of a medley of patriotic songs she arranged herself.

It was the second time the arrangement won for her. She won the talent competition as well as the crown last November at the Miss Southwest Michigan contest which is the preliminary for the state pageant.

Yesterday, she said she plans to use the same arrangement again when she goes to Atlantic City.

A wide variety of prizes are awarded to the winner of the state contest, which is now officially known as the Miss Michigan Scholarship pageant because it emphasizes scholarship and talent as well as beauty.

Miss Hansen received a $2,500 scholarship for winning the crown and a $250 scholarship for winning the talent competition.

She also received free use of a new 1976 Dodge Charger for a year, a snowmobile, a $2,000 wardrobe, a set of cookware, a camera, a radio and many other gifts donated by sponsors.

Many of the prizes, such as free hair styling, dry cleaning and the wardrobe, will be essential for the year-long was Suzanne Schermin of Bay county. The second runner-up was Kathleen Annette Skelton, of White Pigeon. She had won the Miss Heart of Michigan contest to become eligible to enter the state competition. Miss Skelton was also first

Two Top State Politicos Deny Call Girl's Claims

DETROIT (AP) — A Southfield woman who says two ranking Michigan politicians paid her for sex also claims to have entertained organized crime figures, according to a Detroit newspaper.

Lois Herman, a 33-year-old divorcee, has told investigators she was sexually involved with members of organized crime while working at a suburban Detroit bordello, the Detroit News reported in a copyrighted story today.

Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Congressman John Dingell have both denied allegations made in the Sunday Detroit News that they paid Mrs. Herman to have sex with them.

In a statement, Kelley, who is separated from his wife, accused the News of "specifically ordering its reporters to develop sensational stories."

Dingell, who is divorced, told reporters he had never been involved with Mrs. Herman. He said he may have met Mrs. Herman once, but does not remember specifically.

Both Kelley and Dingell are Democrats.

The News reported Sunday in a copyrighted story that police agencies are investigating allegations by Mrs. Herman that a prominent retail chain-store owner procured her for Michigan politicians, including Kelley and Dingell.

The merchant, who was not identified in the story, denied he arranged for Mrs. Herman to have sex with politicians, the News said.

Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, a Republican, confirmed the report in the Sunday Detroit News. But Patterson said he was not investigating either politician.

In a story today, the News reported Mrs. Herman said one of her clients was veteran underworld figure Samuel "Sam the Mustache" Norber, whose organized crime involvement dates back to the "Purple Gang" era in Detroit.

Mrs. Herman said after a party she attended with Mafia figures, two FBI agents questioned the madame of the house of prostitution about the guests.

"The FBI was interested in who attended the party, what they did while they were with us and who invited them," Mrs. Herman said.

The U.S. Justice Department has refused to confirm or deny the alleged investigation of Mrs. Herman's madame, the News reported.

The madame, a woman who used the name Lynn Stevens, is no longer involved in prostitution but now is the girl friend of a downtown Detroit clothing merchant, Mrs. Herman told Detroit News reporters.

Law enforcement sources said the businessman has been questioned in the past by federal agents about racketeers who have been seen frequenting his business, the newspaper said.

Patterson said Mrs. Herman has been charged with maintaining a house of prostitution.

New Reward System Aims At Arsonists

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Benton Harbor Fire Marshal John Billups said the city in 1975 had 97 incendiary fires that caused property loss of $981,000, and efforts to curb arson in Benton Harbor and elsewhere in Michigan include a new statewide reward system.

Billups said rewards up to $1,000 will be paid for information leading to the arrest and/or conviction of arsonists in Michigan. Billups said tips should be sent to Contact Arson Control, a new unit of the state's public and private arson investigations agencies.

Rails, Road Open After Derailment

St. Joseph police said a derailed boxcar was removed and the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks and Hilltop road crossing were open for traffic about 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

The car was derailed shortly after 3 a.m. Saturday, on the Hilltop crossing. There were no injuries reported in the one-car derailment.

Big Welcome Is Planned For Queen

Area residents will be able to welcome home the new Miss Michigan tonight at unofficial ceremonies beginning at 6:15 p.m. in the Eau Claire middle school parking lot. Miss Hansen will arrive at the parking lot with a police escort about 6:15 p.m. and will then caravan to the Berrien Center Bible church on M-140 where a brief reception will be held. Leo and Florine Isaac, of Radio Station WJLB, said today they were attempting to arrange with local travel agencies for a special package tour to Atlantic City in September. Arrangements are to be announced as soon as they are made, Isaac said.

Retiring queen Julie Ann Beckers, of Allegan, crowned the new queen Saturday night. Prior to Miss Beckers, the southwestern Michigan area had not seen a winner at the state competition since 1961 when Miss Donna Jean Shepard, of Dowagiac, took the honors.

Massachusetts State Employees On Strike

BOSTON (AP) — State prison guards, welfare workers and other state employees struck today in a dispute over wages in a new contract. The strike is illegal under Massachusetts law and Gov. Michael S. Dukakis said, "We'll be in court today."

Dukakis said he would seek an injunction to end the strike by 50,000 of the state's 65,000 employees. It was the first statewide walkout by state employees in Massachusetts history.

Picket lines went up this morning at state office buildings and other state facilities. Rush-hour traffic was tied up on major arteries leading into Boston when state workers who man drawbridges walked off the job with the bridges open.

Dozens of placard-carrying workers appeared at state hospitals, unemployment offices and welfare offices around the state.

The Alliance, a coalition representing the striking workers, organized the picket lines which cropped up at 6 a.m.

Dukakis ordered nonstriking management and supervisory personnel mobilized to combat the job action at key facilities. The strike is illegal under the 1973 state law which permitted state employees to bargain collectively for wage increases.

Union officials had been served with an antistrike order

Sunday by the State Labor Relations Commission.

Correction Commissioner Frank A. Hall declared a state of emergency at 8 a.m., enabling prison superintendents to hold prison guards for a second shift at Concord Reformatory. A spokesman said complete or almost complete day shifts reported for work at the Framingham, Norfolk, Walpole and Bridgewater facilities.

Several draw bridges in and around Boston were left open, backing up commuter traffic. Metropolitan District Commission police moved in to close at least one of the bridges in Cambridge.

Urged to halt the strike,

Alliance official Howard V. Doyle said, "We haven't changed our position."

The strike was called by the union, which represents hospital, prison and welfare workers, after negotiations on a contract broke down. The pact would be the first for the employees under a 1973 law allowing public employees to bargain collectively for wages.

Massachusetts law, however,

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Government's Double Standard On Safety

As manufacturers all across the United States can well attest, various government bodies are most strenuously seeing to the public's safety, on everything from tricycles which might upset to any number of automotive safety devices. But when it comes to surveying its own safety responsibilities, the government is not always so astute.

The Teton Dam disaster in Idaho is a recent example. In 1972, after two other dam tragedies, Congress passed dam safety legislation designed to "protect human life and property." Some 28,000 dams and other waterway structures were covered by the law, although several hundred dams administered by the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation and the Tennessee Valley Authority were excluded because those agencies assured the lawmakers they had adequate safety inspection systems of their own.

There have been controversies about the stability of the Teton Dam from the beginning of the project, and even now there appear to be no assurances that the dam was adequately inspected. Further, the Army Corps of Engineers acknowledges that the legislated inspections of many non-federal dams never were made. The excuse offered was lack of funds.

That is a convenient out, frequently used by government agencies when caught up in serious shortcomings. It is an excuse, however, the government does not recognize when it is the accuser and private industry is the target.

Weather's Been Bad In Other Places, Too

Last week, Nick Smith, Herald-Palladium farm writer, reported that Michigan Frozen Food Packers annual crop "estimate" indicates state fruit crops will be down drastically this year because of bad weather. Cherries and grapes will be only one-third of last year's harvest. Peaches and apples will be a little better — two-thirds of what was produced in 1975.

Earlier, the Herald-Palladium's farm editor, Jerry Krieger, had reported that loss of agricultural crops this year will amount to $26,709,500 in Berrien county alone. Neighboring Van Buren county's loss was estimated at $21 million. Severe frosts this spring caused the damage.

Some bad weather is always expected. But the drastic losses here this spring are typical of a recent, nationwide spell of erratic weather that has led people to view the elements with more than customary seriousness.

Early this year, drought in the Great Plains and California revived fears of another Dust Bowl like the one in the 1930s. Although four to six inches of rain fell in Kansas and Oklahoma in April, much of the winter wheat crop already was beyond saving. Many farmers plowed under acres of wheat to preserve precious topsoil from wind erosion.

California cattle ranchers, who still await adequate rainfall, are now grazing their herds on irrigated grasslands. Mountain pastures have dried out.

What Did They Do Before?

What did they do with state peanuts before vending machine candy bars were invented?

Thieves Are Busy Here

Twin Cities area police said nine thefts, including a car that was later recovered, were reported over the weekend with goods and cash totaling about $2,800 reported stolen.

Benton township police said a 1974 Chevrolet Nova was reported stolen from the lot of Toyota of Benton Harbor, 1126 East Napier avenue. Police said it was later recovered in the parking lot at Fairplain Plaza.

Berrien sheriff's officers said four tires and polished aluminum rims, all valued at $800, were reported stolen from the garage at the home of Greg Miller, 5072 River road, Sudus township. Other thefts reported to Berrien officers were:

—A camera, stereo speakers, two bean bag chairs and sunglasses, totaling $460, from the van of Ronald Spadice, Dyer, Ind., parked on East River road, Buchanan township.

—A toolbox and tools, valued at $212, from the mobile home of Ken Jeschke, Shawnee Mobile Home park, 1558 West Shawnee road, Baroda.

—Liquor, and change from a jukebox, valued at $150, from the Bungalow Inn, Gallen. Wilbert Alexander, Milwaukee, Wis., told state police of the Benton Harbor post that $367 in goods were stolen from his car parked at the Ramada Inn, 798 Sumnerleyton road, Benton township. Among the stolen goods were a CB radio, pots and pans, a sport coat, camera and coffee maker.

Russie Hudson, 150 Birdie street, told Benton township police a short wave radio, valued at $90, was stolen from her residence.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police:

—Cash totaling some $281 from the Brooklyn tavern, 379 Territorial road.

—A $200 portable battery charger from the B-J station, 700 East Main street.

Benton township police reported they stopped a car Sunday for allegedly making excessive noise, and arrested the driver on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver (sell).

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Kenneth Fay Huff, 19, of 2992 Territorial road, Benton township. Police said the car was stopped on Tower drive near Wells street, Benton Heights, shortly before 5 p.m. About five ounces of suspected marijuana were seized from the car, police reported. A 15-year-old Benton township boy was to be petitioned to Berrien juvenile court on a charge of breaking and entering Bard elementary school, 1212 East Main street, Sunday, township police said.

Police said they were summoned to the school by a silent burglar alarm shortly before 7 p.m. and found a side door kicked open. Police said the boy was arrested a short time later after witnesses reported seeing a youth running from the school. Some hand tools, three pencil sharpeners and 34 bars of soap were found inside the school near the kicked-in door, police said. Nothing appeared to be missing, police reported.

The boy was turned over to the custody of his parents pending a juvenile court appearance, police said.

BIKATION SAMARITAN GETS BIG THANK YOU

Editor, I would like to thank a man who was one of the riders in the Bikhation in Columbia Saturday for staying with my granddaughter coming from town. She was the last one and couldn't keep up with the rest because she has trouble with her legs. After they got back to school the man had to ride fast to catch up with the other riders then.

But she begged to ride in the Bikhation. Her mother only wanted her to go 10 laps around the subdivision but she went the 20 like the other girls and boys. In the subdivision where they rode some older boys kept bothering the boys and girls until my daughter and another mother went to talk to them.

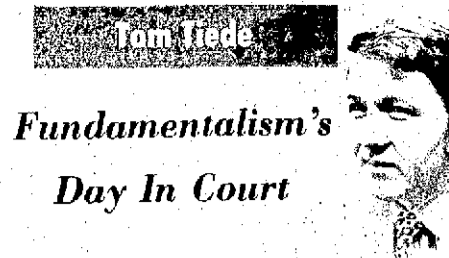

So here is a big thank you to the man who stayed with Carolyn. From her mother, dad and grandmother.

Berry's World

"Hey! That's a gam! 'Life is just a bowl of repressed feelings and isolation!'"

DAYTON, TENN. — "All people are descended from monkeys," the comics say. "Only some people show it more."

And everyone laughs. Except in Dayton. "God created man in his own image," is the way the story is told locally. "But man created God in his."

It's not that the citizens of Dayton are killjoys. It's just that for a half century the jokes about creation have been on them. Now they may be having the last laugh, or at least last smile.

This is the town where, in 1825, Clarence Darrow debated William Jennings Bryan at the legendary trial regarding the question of human origin. The subject was John T. Scopes, a high school biology teacher who purposely broke a Tennessee law forbidding the teaching of evolution. His guilt was never in question. The good purpose of the law was. In some eyes Darrow humiliated the idea of Godly creation, and destroyed the supernatural hypothesis forever.

It turns out, however, that the faithful have never been swayed. And interest has once again opened the discussion as to whether man is a fortunate mutation of accidental or a special and immutable blessing. Arguing articles are appearing in scholarly journals. Fundamentalists groups are dispatching believers to debate the masses in the universities. And, apparently, millions of people who are thinking anew about evolution vs. creativity agree with Bryan: "The choice is between God and Baa."

Thus far the revolution has not come full circle. The nation that for so long believed the biblical version of creation is not yet ready to abandon the more recently acquired scientific explanation. Perhaps because too many people have been to the Grand Canyon. Fundamentalists believe the mile deep ditch was formed in about 14 months, during the flood of Noah. However, logic, as we know logic, insists it took billions of years for nature to form the pit.

Nonetheless, the creationists see the tide of theological confidence returning. "You can't change a maple into an oak," Bryan preached. Science has broken the genetic code but the cell still has a fixity that man can not alter, at least not sufficiently to turn one kind of life — much less species — into another. Hence, and despite generations of contrary laboratory work, the faithful say the theory of divine engineering remains as plausible as that of natural selection — and more and more people are adding it up.

According to some creationists, the mathematics may be coming just in time. They equate the decline of American morals with the institutionalization of Darwinism. If a nation does not believe the Bible on this point, it must wonder if there are other misrepresentations in the written word of God. Did the author of Genesis lie? Then how about Matthew, Mark, Luke and John? Creationists say people who seek earthly evidence against heavenly gospel have no good future.

In Dayton such belief is pervasive. Even in an age when the gals undress on the local movie screens, the majority of residents believe in the Garden of Eden. Dr. Willard Hemming, for me, is a biology professor at the school named in honor of 1823, Bryan College. As a scientist Hemming is surrounded by a private museum of preserved animal and human specimens; as a Christian he believes each of them was created by the process of God willing them into being.

Last Opportunity For LBJ's Dream

WASHINGTON — A little more than 12 years ago, President Lyndon Johnson launched a War on Poverty which sought to give every single individual the opportunity for education and training, for work and the chance to live in decency and dignity.

It was an inspiring program in an optimistic and prosperous era, and it became the centerpiece of Johnson's vision of a Great Society.

The Office of Economic Opportunity was granted nearly $1 billion to spend its first year. Filled eight floors of a large downtown office building, and was led by Sargent Shriver, who had been a huge success at the Peace Corps.

But the combination of so much money and untested programs proved explosive. Almost from the beginning OFO was plagued by conflicts with local officials, reports of rip-offs and inefficiency, and fears that Federal money was being used to foment trouble by subsidizing welfare demonstrations and political activity.

And when Richard Nixon came to the White House, he made it clear that he thought the War on Poverty a waste of money. He whacked away steadily at its funding and eventually dismantled the operation, burying its job-training and education projects in other administration departments and killing others.

All that is visible of Johnson's dream today is the Community Services Administration, the umbrella for 855 community action programs which seek through local action to help the poor. It has a current budget of approximately $320 million, a mere bagatelle by Federal government standards.

The agency still occupies its original home, but now fills only four floors. President Ford this spring proposed to kill CSA's recreation and food programs for the poor and reduce its budget to $334 million for next year. The agency has less supergrade personnel than any other in government.

Johnson conceived major surgery; what is left is a Band-Aid.

In April, the program got another new director, professional administrator Samuel Martinez, its third Spanish-speaking chief in five years. Among those at his White House swearing-in were two regional directors who have been the subject of internal CSA investigations. The reports, one completed one year ago and one a follow-up on previous investigations, indicated fiscal mismanagement and questionable vouchers and were turned over to local United States attorneys. CSC has taken no action to penalize the men or tighten their financial operations.

Martinez professes to be enthusiastic about the agency's future, despite its obvious difficulties. He believes he has a promise from President Ford to review its skimpy budget. He was also authorized to hire a deputy director, a post for which there has been no financing since 1973, and promised the agency would remain independent. Some of its critics would like to see it absorbed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Mine May Reopen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Right now I can accept the fact that my dad is dead. To bring his body out really will not mean very much," Harvey Sturgill, 26, bearded and soft-spoken, commented on the possibility that the Scotia Coal Co. mine at Owen Fork, Ky., where his father and 25 other men were killed in March, will be reopened soon.

NURSING HOME ADDITION: Jordan Nursing home in Bridgman has completed construction on 15,200 square foot addition to its basic care facility and has set open house for 2 to 4 p.m. June 27. Forty-two bed addition was approved by state health department in June, 1975, and cost $480,000, including furniture and fixtures, according to Administrator Donald Dockerty. It will bring total number of patient beds in facility to 105. New wing is shown at right of main entrance. (Nifodora Krumrie photos)

Galien Crash Fatal To Veteran SJ Pilot

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
GALIEN — Veteran pilot Delbert Yettaw of St. Joseph was injured fatally Saturday when his light plane crashed here during a stunt performance before 800 people at this community's Americans Together Day program.

Yettaw, 48, 527 North Upton drive, St. Joseph, was pronounced dead on arrival at 12:35 p.m. at Pawating hospital, Niles. Rescue workers said he was unconscious when removed from the wreckage.

Yettaw was an airplane mechanic for Whirlpool Corp. and a flight instructor at Ross field, Benton Harbor.

Berrien county sheriff's deputies said the well-known pilot and aircraft mechanic suffered head and internal injuries in the accident.

The crash, which occurred shortly after noon, cast a pallor over the festive mood of the annual Americans Together day ceremony.

The crowd, estimated at 800 people by Berrien sheriff's deputies, had gathered at the American Legion post in Galien for a variety of events, including the first of Yettaw's two performances scheduled for Saturday.

Mrs. Beverly Rutkowski, 137 Elms, Benton Harbor, the owner of the plane, was serving as the announcer for the show.

The single-engine two-seater plane crashed into an open field about one-quarter mile northwest of the Legion post on Cleveland avenue.

Lt. Richard Heminger, of the sheriff department's Galien substation, said Yettaw was executing a stunt called a snap roll when the crash occurred. He said the landing gear of the aircraft struck the ground and the plane skidded and bounced about 100 feet before coming to rest.

Galien firemen, ambulance crewmen and wrecker service employees worked for about 10 minutes before the unconscious pilot was freed from the wreckage.

Heminger said fuel spilled from the plane, but there was no fire.

The cause of the crash has not been determined, according to Thomas Cook of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). Cook, the FAA's principal operations inspector for the South Bend, Ind., district, said the National Transportation Safety board will rule on the cause after an investigation is completed.

Cook described Yettaw as a "good pilot." The FAA official said he was on hand to monitor the performance as required by federal regulations.

Yettaw was alone in the red, white and blue aircraft, the only plane involved in the stunt performance.

He began flying when he was 14 years old. During World War II, he was an airplane mechanic in the Navy and was awarded the Purple Heart.

He was then in the Air Force from 1949 to 1953 and served as an airplane mechanic. He had logged over 4,000 hours of flying time.

A second plane that dropped ping-pong balls on the crowd in connection with a contest held later in the afternoon was not in the stunt show, according to Legion post officials. The post was the sponsor of the two-day event that ended yesterday.

Funeral services for Yettaw Mr. will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. at Day-Flurin chapel. Cremation is to follow.

He was born Aug. 4, 1927, in Charlevoix, Mich., and came to this area in 1956 from Grand Haven. He was a member of the Experimental Aircraft association and had built two experimental planes. He was also a member of the International Aerobatic club.

Survivors include a daughter, Miss Theresa Yettaw, San Francisco; two brothers, Glenn, Columbus, Ga., Leo, of California; and two sisters, Mrs. Helen Retzlaff, Mrs. Madelyn Busch, both of Grand Haven.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning Wednesday noon. Memorials may be given to the Yettaw Memorial fund.

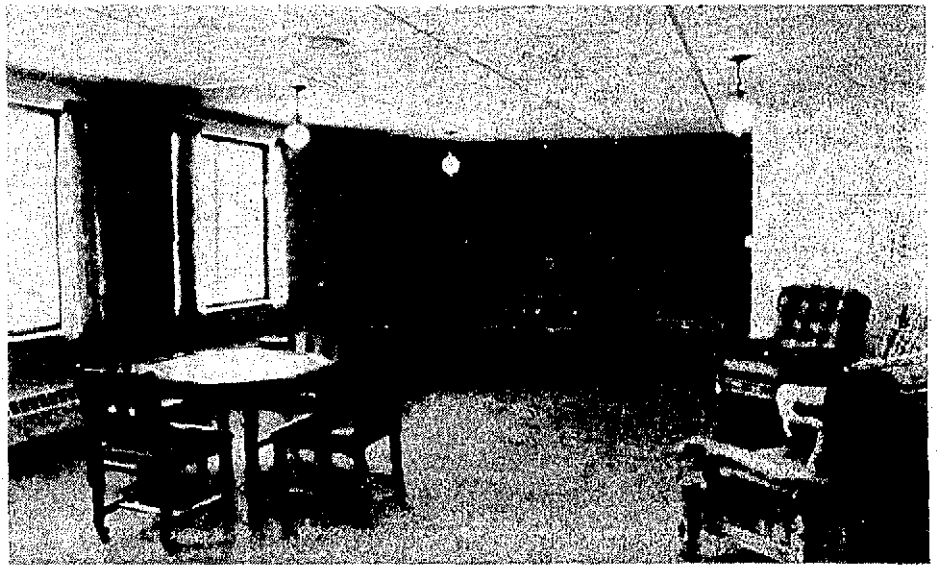

Blame Boy In Damage To Yards

St. Joseph police said a 16-year-old St. Joseph township boy was booked on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants early Sunday after police were told a van truck was driven over four lawns and through a fence at a firm home. Police said the van was located by officers at about 12:02 a.m. in the Memorial hospital lot where the 16-year-old was arrested. Police said he is to be petitioned into juvenile court. He was turned over to his parents after his arrest.

Police said the hospital lawn was driven over, as were lawns at the W.R. Kuball home, 878 Trail lane, the Donald Vales residence, 2600 Thayer drive, and the office of Drs. Robert and Barbara Green, 2600 Morton avenue. Reported broken was a wooden fence at the home of Jack Radell, 2518 Pixley.

Baroda Twp. Board Meet Rescheduled

BARODA — The regular meeting of the Baroda township board has been rescheduled for Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall, according to Emil Nitz, township clerk. The board was supposed to meet tonight.

DAY ROOM: This is 38 by day room which is part of $480,000 addition to Jordan Nursing home in Bridgman. Also included in addition is dining room, activities room and landscaped courtyard and 22 patient rooms. Addition brings facility's square footage to 36,700 and value to about $1 million. It is located at 9935 Red Arrow highway, a mile south of Lake street intersection in Bridgman.

Even In Summer, BH Schools Have Lots Doing

School may be out for the summer for students, but Benton Harbor area schools Supt. Richard Helser says the same isn't true for many of the teachers and administrators in the school district.

Helser said the school system is planning six in-service workshops this month and four days of in-service training in late August for teachers and administrators.

Teachers who attend workshops and seminars during the summer receive the normal pay for substitute teachers — $30 per day, according to Helser.

Helser also noted that many teachers will attend school in their own during the summer to further their education. He said more than 40 per cent of the school system's staff has master's degrees or better. Summer workshops as outlined by Helser include:

— Training of all district administrators to be better evaluators with the hope that teacher evaluations in particular can be made more effective.

— Some 25 teachers, administrators and community health agency representatives are meeting to plan a pilot program in a health curriculum for kindergarten through 12th grade for next school year. Under the plan, teaching of personal hygiene and health-related activities will be increased and coordinated district-wide.

— Reading objectives for all students in kindergarten through sixth grade are being updated.

— A new outline of courses of study will be prepared by teachers from the high school department.

— Computer-assisted instruction will be explained and reviewed by Benton Harbor 7th and 8th grade teachers at the University of Notre Dame.

— Several consultants will be helping high school teachers to increase their understanding of special techniques, such as individualized instruction.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Superpatriot A Nuisance

Dear Ann Landers: I am just as enthusiastic about the Bicentennial as the next person, but the lunatics who live across the street have made our neighborhood the laughing stock of the town. People come from miles around just to look. They painted their house red, white and blue. Five flags flew from the front yard till dusk. Last week they put up three huge paper mache figures: George Washington, George Washington crossing the Delaware, and John Hancock signing the Declaration of Independence.

There are two enormous neon lights on the front porch that flash off and on all night long.

The message is "Happy Birthday, U.S.A." We can't get to sleep because the lights shine in our bedroom window.

The worst is the music. A public-address system blasts the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," the National Anthem and "God Bless America" from 8:00 p.m. until midnight.

Yesterday the nut who owns the house was out mowing the grass in an Uncle Sam costume — fake beard, hat and all.

The traffic jam in front of our place was unbelievable. Our lawn is a mess. What can we do about this? — We Love America, Too, But —

Dear Love: You can notify the police. Mr. Superpatriot is infringing on your inalienable right to the pursuit of happiness. He is also disturbing the peace and creating a public nuisance. Get going.

Need A Physical

Dear Ann Landers: You probably won't print this letter because it goes against what you've been preaching for so many years, but here goes anyway.

My husband eats like a horse — everything and anything. He loves sweets, soft drinks, candy, all the rich things. Yet he is as skinny as a pencil, doesn't put on a pound. Sometimes I think he does it just to get my goat.

I go to work without so much as a cup of coffee in the morning. At noon I eat cottage cheese and a few lettuce leaves. For dinner I have a piece of lean meat and a green vegetable, sometimes a glass of iced coffee with artificial sweetener. I have no appetite and don't care about food.

I'm a high blood pressure patient and afraid to eat more. So how come I am from 30 to 40 pounds overweight? — Fat And Hate It

Dear F. And H.: If the facts in your letter are correct your need a complete physical — especially a thyroid check. 1,000 calories when they cook dinner — just "fasting." Also they don't count the highballs. Are you one of those?

Tuned Out

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I have been married 40 years. We argue a lot because she says I ignore her. I've told her time and time again that I don't hear well and she should talk louder. She insists that I "tune her out" on purpose. Now I'm beginning to think she speaks softly so she will have something to pick at me about. She used to nag me about my cigar smoking but since I gave up tobacco she needs a new topic.

Can you help me with my problem? — A Whittier Reader

Dear Whittier: According to the experts, males sometimes lose the ability to hear high-pitched sounds as they grow older — especially if the sound is a wife's voice. Suggest that she speak in a lower register — and you listen a little harder, Buster.

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens. And Their self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Gains and losses can balance today if you use your head. Instead of worrying about your loss on pears, try to pick it up on peaches.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to jump to conclusions today. Other's views may have considerable merit if you'll take the time to listen.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be selective as to whom you confide in today. Don't waste time telling your troubles to one who can't possibly help you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The Golden Rule is more than just an old axiom. Expect to be treated in the same manner as you've treated others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Chances are you'll have better luck today if you work through a clever intermediary. Select someone who knows the ropes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't take credit today for ideas conceived by another. You may need this person's counsel later and you'd get only a share of resentment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Treat the property of others today as if it belonged to you. If you're careless, you'll probably have to make good out of your own pocket.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Guard against a tendency today to sime with those who are less deserving than others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today you are innovative and imaginative, but you are also impatient. There's a good chance you'll push a bright idea prematurely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Usually you play things close to the vest. Today, you may abandon caution and try to do something the same way as a more knowledgeable friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Keep pals and relatives out of your affairs today. Limit those with whom you share confidences to persons with an actual involvement.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Someone who is very fond of you will cover for you today. They'll repeat not what you said, but what you should have said.

Oswald: "I see that Regina Barnes of Modesto, California, became a life master just before her fifteenth birthday. You didn't play any bridge until you entered Notre Dame, so you were never a competitor for the record."

Jim: "No. You and mother would never teach me the game."

Oswald: "Why don't you devote this whole week to some of your early bridge experiences. How about your first grand slam?"

Jim: "This was my first really interesting one. The game was match-point duplicate and while I was sure I could make seven spades, I counted twelve top tricks and decided to go for the extra ten points and a top."

Oswald: "Yes. Seven spades would have been a cinch. How did you play the notrump?"

Jim: "Slowly, but successfully. I won the club in my hand, ran off five spades while chucking a club and a heart from dummy. West threw two hearts. Then I cashed the diamonds to see West discard a third heart. I played a second club and when East showed out I had a complete count of the hand. Each opponent was down to two hearts and my third heart was a winner."

YOUR OWN BLOOD TRANSFUSION

With all I have been reading about blood transfusions, are they really safe? I read recently that commercial blood is not carefully screened and may be dangerous. — Mrs. C.F., Utah

Dear Mrs. F.M.: Many states have established strict rules to insure the safety of blood for transfusions. Commercial groups must pass the most rigid inspection before their blood can be utilized. Nevertheless, certain problems still exist even in blood that is banked by highly reliable organizations.

An interesting idea was recently advocated by Dr. Herbert Silver of the blood bank of the Hartford Hospital in Connecticut. Since the transfusion of blood from another person may present certain risks, his new idea seems to be valuable.

He suggests that if anyone is scheduled for an operation, such as the repair of a hernia or for the removal of hemorrhoids or for any other elective (not emergency) procedure, they should "give themselves a pint of blood." This means that if they offer their blood, it is banked and stored and ready for use if during an operation they need a transfusion.

Dr. Silver says, "The only definite safe blood for transfusion is blood removed from an individual and subsequently used by him." He feels that pregnant women can donate their own blood in advance of delivery should it be needed.

If the blood is not needed at the time of your own surgery, it could be given to the hospital's regular blood bank for others to use.

Dr. Silver states, "Routine preoperative collections of blood from patients who are to have elective surgery can go a long way in helping to eliminate diseases transmitted through blood and other untoward reactions. It could have a significant, positive effect on the problem of inadequate blood supply, particularly if the unused blood units are diverted for the transfusions of others. This concept deserves to be considered by all hospitals everywhere."

Taxes Jumped Highest

Taxes have increased faster than any other expense in the family budget.

According to a private research firm, total taxes for local, state and federal government jumped 65 per cent between the spring of 1967 and the end of 1973. The rate of increase was about the same for all income groups: low, intermediate and high. No other expense category increased as much as taxes during the period. Overall inflation rate was an average of 40 per cent.

Announce Tuesday Movies

Industry will be the topic of two films to be shown Tuesday, June 22, during Family Film Night at 7:30 p.m. at Maude Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph.

"Maine's Harvesters of the Sea" is the story of the men of the sea and those on shore connected with the industry and how they supply the sea food for the nation as their fathers did.

"Michigan in Motion," emphasizes the effect of industrialization on Michigan from the beginning of the 20th century through today.

Scenes include early Michigan auto giants, rural life before mechanization, growth of unions, building of two bridges, impact of the two world wars and depression and growth of unionism on our economy.

The summer story hour will be held each Wednesday from 11 a.m. to noon beginning Wednesday, June 23, for four-year-olds and over.

"Escapes," a mixed media art exhibit by Christina Moezika, will be on display in the library auditorium through July 3.

A collection of artifacts about spinning and weaving owned by Mrs. Clark Johnson will be in the library display case during the month of June.

New books at the St. Joseph library include "The Golden Unicorn," Phyllis A. Whitney; "The President Makers: From Mark Hanna to Joseph P. Kennedy," Francis Russell, and "Human Intelligence," Jack Fincher.

Lawrence History Available

LAWRENCE — "Times Gone By," a Bicentennial book of Lawrence, are now on sale, according to Mrs. William (Pauline) Heldt, chairman of the Lawrence Bicentennial committee.

Women Drivers

Everyone seemed amazed that when the traditional "Gentlemen, start your motors" resounded at Indianapolis this year, Janet Guthrie was among the starters.

Janet made racing car history by being the first woman to survive the time trial for the 500.

As a woman who once belonged to eight car pools, I find Janet's 171,429 miles per hour on a wet track rather unimpressive.

I could name dozens of women who have topped that with one arm on the wheel and the other pulling in a kid waving like a flag from the radio antenna.

There's Wanda Fletcher, who averaged 210.057 on a dirt road when it was discovered one of her passengers checked the soft drink bottle on the way home from camp, and the snake was hissing.

There's Phyllis Startle, who braked a car going 55 mph on an expressway when a kid in the back seat announced she was going to throw up in the door pocket.

And who could forget the cool driving skill of Beth Grit, who drove eight Girl Scouts through traffic at 5 p.m. with a wad of chewing gum in her ear and an open umbrella in her kidney?

I personally volunteered to drive six boys home from a ballgame one night, which makes Miss Guthrie's 20 laps around a two-and-a-half-mile track seem like she was standing still.

One swore his house had moved. Another knew a short cut which took in three states. Another said we had passed his house three times, but he didn't mention it because he didn't want to miss a story his buddy was telling. By the time I got home my clothes had gone out of style.

The old myth about women not being able to drive as well as men has been stamped out. If there was a speck of truth to it, car pools would have annihilated over half of our adult population years ago.

Naturally, I'm delighted that auto racing has finally gone out.

But the real breakthrough in driving skill will come when one day a man with courage and stamina and an uncommon amount of guts will climb into a station wagon with eight preschoolers on a rainy day and hear a voice from the back seat exclaim, "Oh, uh! Raymond should have gone before he left home!"

Schedule Buchanan Meetings

BUCHANAN — Buchanan Business and Professional Women's club will hold a cooperative dinner at 8:30 p.m. Monday, June 21, in the recreation center at Motea Court.

There will be an orientation on state and national programs and reports given by delegates that attended the Michigan Federation of BPW clubs held May 14-16 in Southfield.

Members of the program committee include Mrs. Olive Michener, chairman, Mrs. Herbert Batchelor, Mrs. John F. Russell and Mrs. Esther Hamilton.

BUCHANAN — Golden Workers Bible class of the Buchanan Church of Christ will meet at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 22, in the church Fellowship Hall for a carry-in dinner.

Serving on the dinner committee will be Mrs. Cecil Murden and Mrs. Leo Carlson.

Ladies Guild Sets Meeting

PULLMAN — The Ladies Guild of the Pullman Congregational church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 21, in the church Fellowship Room.

All area women are invited.

Change Date

BUCHANAN — "Flower Revolution," a flower show sponsored by the Buchanan Garden club scheduled for July 3, has been rescheduled for Sunday, July 31, according to Mrs. Walter Ross, club president.

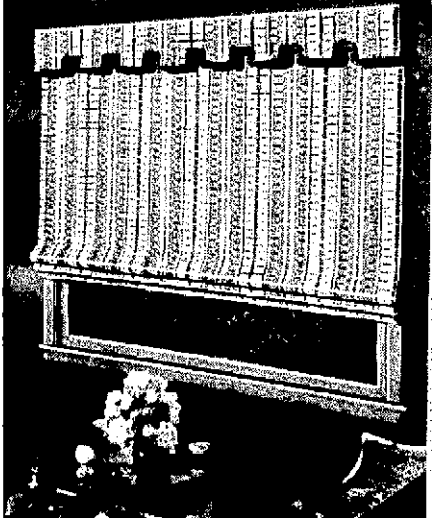

She says the show is being postponed because many annuals are not growing as expected and will not be ready by the original show date, and that other garden plants bloomed two weeks early.

Space Lurks In Closets

Are you searching for more shelving space? Look high and low in those clothes closets. A surprising amount of space for open shelves or pull drawers often can be found.

Hanging dresses and robes all on one side will leave space on the other above the floor for a couple of shelves. Or one low shelf all the way across will increase shoe storage.

Communist Hopes Are High As Italians Go To Polls Today

By MICHAEL J. DUFFY
Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — Italy completes a second day of nationwide voting today and begins counting the ballots that will determine whether the Communist party gets a place in the government of this member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

With Sunday's weather perfect for the beach, 76.3 per cent of the 40.4 million eligible voters went to the polls, compared with 78.9 per cent during the first day of the 1972 national election. The rest had until 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT) to vote or run the risk of being fined. But although voting is compulsory, no action against delinquents is likely.

The campaign was punctuated with violence, including the assassination of a district attorney in Genoa and three other deaths. But the most serious incidents Sunday were a fire at one polling place caused by a short circuit and an 18-year-old policeman accidentally shooting himself in the leg.

The Communists, riding a crescendo of dissatisfaction with the grave economic situation and charges of corruption in government, hoped to bridge the gap of two percentage points that separated them from the ruling Christian Democrats in nationwide regional elections last year.

The Communists won a third of the votes then, and the combined vote of the Communists, Socialists and other leftists was 47 per cent. The Socialists dropped out of the center-left coalition government and demanded a role in the government for the Communists, leaving the Christian Democrats without a majority in the Chamber of Deputies and forcing the national election a year early.

The Christian Democrats proclaimed the election a referendum between freedom and communism. The Communists said the choice was between continued economic crisis and scandals or a change to the left.

Evacuees Steam Toward Athens

By RICHARD BLAYSTONE
Associated Press Writer
ABOARD USS SPIEGEL GROVE (AP) — The Spiegel Grove and its cargo of 267 American and other refugees from the Lebanese civil war steamed toward Athens today.

A holiday mood took hold soon after the 110 Americans and 157 evacuees of other nationalities climbed aboard the 510-foot LSD (landing ship dock) in the Mediterranean off Beirut on Sunday.

After a choppy, 25-minute ride from the beach in a landing craft, the refugees were served cold drinks and oatmeal cookies. The children found a play area penned off by cargo nets on deck. Adults peered through telescopes at their escort ships, talked with the sailors or sunned themselves as the 36-hour voyage to Athens began.

Less than 10 per cent of the American community in war-torn Lebanon took advantage of the sea evacuation ordered by President Ford.

Two American girls who left were bound for summer camp. A German stewardess said it was her "vacation." A Finnish girl said she'd be back in two weeks after attending her mother's funeral. One family refused to go when told, incorrectly, that they couldn't take their dog.

Ford ordered the sea rescue when it became clear early Sunday that continued fighting between Syrian and Palestinian forces south of Beirut made a road convoy to Damascus, Syria, risky. Ford and the National Security Council maintained an all-night vigil Saturday at the White House, receiving Pentagon reports on the evacuation, dubbed "Operation Fluid Drive."

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were at the Pentagon, monitoring the progress of the operation.

At the other end of the long chain of command was Chief Bosni's Male Glen R. Kennedy, 46, of Rhineland, Wis., guiding the small landing craft to the Beirut dock to pick up the Spiegel Grove's passengers. They included two dogs, a cat and a parakeet.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford stayed up until after the evacuees were safely aboard the LSD at 5:12 a.m. EDT "to be ready to make whatever decision would have to be made if it did not go as smoothly as it did."

The U.S. government

emphasized that the landing craft sent into the beach was unarmed. But a Navy spokesman said a five-ship amphibious group with 1,800 Marines and armor, artillery and helicopters aboard was standing by, "prepared to go in under fire" if ordered to do so.

Police Say Tot's Burns 'Punishment'

By DENNIS COGSWELL
South Berrien Bureau

A 19-month-old Covert girl remained in critical condition this morning at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, with second degree burns to 20 per cent of her body received when she was allegedly placed in a tub of hot water as a punishment Thursday night.

The child, Anita Mingo, who also suffered numerous bruises, according to police, was transferred to Bronson from Pawling hospital, Niles, where she had been initially treated.

Her mother, Doris E. Mingo, 20, of route 1, box 211A, Tucker road, Covert, demanded preliminary examination on charges of child cruelty and assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder when arraigned Friday in Van Buren Seventh District court.

She was released after posting $2,500 bond pending a June 29 hearing.

State police at Niles said they were called to Pawling by hospital officials about 8:40 p.m. Thursday.

They said Miss Mingo told them she had become angered when her child started to play with the toilet brush and then she picked up Anita and hit and spanked her.

Miss Mingo told troopers she then ran hot water into the tub and placed the child in it, the officers reported. She was reported to have said she then realized the child had been seriously hurt, but decided to take her to Unity hospital, Buchanan, rather than South Haven Community hospital because she did not want her parents to find out what had happened.

Police said Miss Mingo told them the child was denied admittance at Unity and was then taken to Pawling.

Van Buren Prosecutor Ward (Steve) Hamlin said he filed petitions in juvenile court asking that the child and Miss Mingo's other daughter, Brenda, age 2½, be made wards of the court.

Woman Is Held In Sodus Death

Berrien sheriff's deputies said a Sodus township farm worker was stabbed to death Saturday afternoon and a woman, also a Sodus township farm worker, was booked at the county jail on an open charge of murder. Deputies identified the victim as James Williams, 54, of the August Schroeder farm, 6292 River road. Booked at the jail was Lula Mae Pope, 61. Deputies reported the two lived together at a labor cabin where the incident occurred about 2:40 p.m. Sheriff's Det. Dan Russell said Williams died of a single stab wound to the heart and said no murder weapon has yet been located. Deputies reported the incident apparently resulted during a quarrel and is under further investigation.

Head-On Crash Injures Five

DECATUR — Five people were injured, two of them seriously, in a two-car, head-on accident about five miles west of here last night.

State police at Paw Paw reported that a vehicle operated by Richard G. McAbee, 34, 501 Keene avenue, Dowagiac, was westbound on CR-354 near 55th street about 8:40 p.m. when it collided in the driving lane of an on-coming car driven by Charles T. Robertson, 29, 2254 East Napier, Benton Harbor.

Troopers said McAbee was arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, after being treated and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw.

Robertson was listed in guarded condition at Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac, this morning, while his wife, Susan, 27, was treated and released from Lee Memorial.

Another passenger in the Robertson auto, Nancy Webster, 26, 2145 Acorn drive, Stevensville, was listed in stable condition, while her husband, Portus, 28, was treated and released from Lee Memorial.

Police said the accident remains under investigation.

Some Lutherans Quit; Others Stay

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (AP) — A Chicago-area clergyman has been elected president of the English District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The Rev. Mr. George Bornemann of suburban Elmhurst was elected Sunday. He is one of two top officers of the district who declined to resign on Saturday when delegates to the district's convention voted 296 to 75 to withdraw from the Missouri Synod and set up a new church structure.

The former president and twelve board members quit to become a part of a new English Synod. Rev. Bornemann had been vice president of the district and defeated the Rev. Mr. Paul Barth, who had been acting president of the district since April, following the firing of the Rev. Mr. Harold Hecht of Detroit.

Hecht had refused to give up the presidency until mass resignations during the district's convention at Concordia College in River Forest.

The Rev. Bornemann is pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Elmhurst.

gross indecency and accepting the earnings of a prostitute.

Kelley said in his statement the story printed in Sunday's editions of the News clearly was aimed at carrying out a "policy of sensationalism."

The attorney general refused, however, to talk to reporters beyond issuing his statement, and his aides would not say where he was.

Mrs. Herman, also known as Teri Cole, said she met Kelley at a dinner meeting with the chain-store executive, drove Kelley to a motel and had sex with him. She said Kelley gave her about $50, according to the News.

Kelley, according to the News story, said he accepted a ride from the woman because his driver failed to pick him up after dinner. In his statement Sunday, Kelley said, "I was not intimate with her. I never met her again."

Kelley refused to make any further comment about what he termed "this purely private matter."

Wayne County prosecutor William Cahalan's name also emerged in the story, though he is not accused of sex relations. Cahalan acknowledged he had been introduced to Mrs. Herman at a northwest Detroit restaurant 18 months ago by a General Motors corporation executive.

Cahalan said he met Mrs. Herman on two social occasions and once telephoned her to tell her of a job he knew was open in Wayne County Probate Court.

Mrs. Herman's attorney, Arthur Liss, says Mrs. Herman is being used as a "political tool" because the names of prominent men were found in her shoebox file of clients after her arrest.

Top Berrien Jail Jobs Vacant

The two top command positions at Berrien county jail are vacant, and Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell said tests will be conducted to fill the posts formerly held by Sgt. Lowell Brownell and Lt. Carl Metaling.

Brownell, head jail guard, resigned June 16 after six years with the sheriff's department. Metaling retired at age 65 on April 30 as jail administrator.

Jewell said promotions will be made from within the department to fill the vacant posts at the jail.

East Coast Bomb Blast Injures One

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — A bomb went off at the Middlesex County Court House this morning, injuring a maintenance man as he placed his key in the door, authorities said.

The maintenance man, John Osmond, 58, suffered multiple cuts in the blast, and was listed in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital. There were no other injuries.

The explosion occurred at about 6:20 a.m., as Osmond was coming to work. "He said he turned the key in the door and he's very fuzzy on the rest," a spokesman at the hospital said.

Police said damage to the inside of the four-story stone building was not immediately determined.

Windows were shattered at St. Peter's rectory across the street.

The blast was the second at a court house in the Boston area in the last four months. Last April 22, a bomb went off on the second floor at the Suffolk County Court House in Boston, injuring 22 persons.

Freight Train Kills Shelbyville Man

SHELBYVILLE — Gerald Kay Peters, 28, route 2, Fifth street, Shelbyville, was killed early Saturday morning when he was hit by a freight train as he was walking along the tracks near here.

State police at the Wayland post, said they estimate Peters, an Indian, was hit around 3:28 a.m. by a southbound Conrail 123-car freight train some 1,400 feet north of here in Allegan county's Wayland township.

His body was not discovered until the next train passed through the area around 9:30 a.m. some six hours later. The engineer of the second train saw something on the tracks, stopped and called the Grand Rapids depot, where train officials called police.

The tracks are the old Penn Central tracks, now a part of the Conrail system, which run between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo.

The accident will not be considered as a traffic fatality, according to state police, since it did not occur on or near a highway or railroad crossing.

IN BERRIEN Officers Probe Three Mishaps

Seven people escaped serious injury in three separate accidents in the Twin Cities area over the weekend, according to police.

A man walking near a Sodus township grocery store was struck by a car Sunday, but sustained only minor injuries, Berrien sheriff's officers reported.

Louise D. Whitehead, 58, of 3594 Naomi road, Sodus township, was treated for bruises and released from Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, after the 2:23 p.m. accident.

Officers identified the driver of the car as Mary S. Sheridan, 72, Lombard, Ill., and reported she was unhurt. Officers said the car was backing out of the lot at Sodus IGA, 4112 South Pipestone road, when the woman said she saw a vehicle coming, put the car in forward and the car struck Whitehead and then the building. No damage was reported to the building and no tickets were issued, officers said.

A St. Joseph woman sustained apparently minor injuries as the result of a two-car collision Saturday at the intersection of Church and Pearl streets, St. Joseph police said.

Bonnie Jean Rice, 23, of 1103 Pearl, St. Joseph, was released after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph. She was identified as the driver of one car. Police said the other car was driven by Timothy Michael Peak, 18, of 1471 Wilson road, Lincoln township. He was unhurt in the 12:18 p.m. accident and police issued him a citation for failure to yield the right of way.

State police said four people, including a one-year-old boy, escaped serious injury about 8:15 p.m. Saturday, when their auto collided with another on M-139 in Benton township, crossed four traffic lanes, bounced off a curb and rammed a concrete bridge siding head-on.

None of the occupants required hospital treatment, but a woman driving the other car was treated and released from Mercy hospital.

The front end of the car was demolished in the bridge collision, but there was no apparent damage to the bridge. Troopers from the Benton Harbor post, said witnesses told them the car that hit the bridge was traveling at a high rate of speed before hitting the rear end of the other vehicle.

The driver, Otis L. Rimpson, 21, of 444 East High street, Benton Harbor, was booked on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, troopers reported.

Passengers were identified as Rodney Rimpson, 1, also of 444 East High, and Michael A. Rimpson, 10, of 877 East Main street, and Stanley E. Hice, 17, of 1168 Broadway, all of Benton Harbor.

Troopers identified the other driver as Mrs. Eara (Shirley) Buckette, 37, of 574 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor. She was reported to be seven months pregnant. Troopers said her runner-up in the Miss Southwest Michigan contest in Benton Harbor last November.

Miss Hansen, a 1974 graduate of Taylor university, Upland, Ind., plans to use the scholarship money she has won toward her studies for a master's degree in education.

A 1970 graduate of Berrien Springs high school, Miss Hansen's charms were first noted that year when she took second runner-up in the Miss Berrien Springs Blossomtime contest.

Miss Hansen said she was taken by surprise when she was chosen queen from the field of 16 semi-finalists.

"I thought I looked pretty dim when they hit the second runner-up and I still hadn't been chosen," she said.

"Now I'm just thankful to God for being allowed a privilege like this to be part of my life," she added.

From now until September she said she plans to do a lot of practicing on the piano and a lot of exercising to stay in shape.

Miss Hansen said she does not have a steady boyfriend at this time which is just fine because she doubts she is going to have much free time for dating during the upcoming year. She does expect to return to teaching this fall, though.

bars strikes by state workers.

No further negotiations on the contract have been scheduled.

Dukakis, in a telecast Sunday evening from his office, told the public, "... We will do everything possible to minimize any disruption of services caused by a strike, and we will take every step necessary to protect your health and safety."

State workers not covered by the Alliance include police, nurses and doctors at state hospitals, teachers at state colleges and universities and certain craftsmen.

The governor warned that anyone walking off the job would be subject to loss of pay, and disciplinary action that could include permanent dismissal.

Before negotiations broke off, the state's third and reportedly final contract offer called for a 23.3 per cent pay raise, or $2,174 for each employee over a three-year period.

The present average state salary is $9,390 a year.

State negotiators rejected a union proposal early Sunday to give each worker a $3,935 pay increase over two years, or a 30 per cent hike in addition to a substantial fringe benefit package.

George Bennett, the state's chief negotiator, said the union proposal would cost taxpayers nearly $300 million during the two-year period. T state's offer calls for $140 million over three years.

Employees have received no pay raises for the past 2½ years, although a state law guarantees them cost of living increases.

Saugatuck Has A New Excursion Boat

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SAUGATUCK — Memories of bygone days when ships were regularly launched from the shores of Lake Michigan, were revived momentarily Saturday when the latest of the excursion boats that will ply the waters around was Saugatuck was scooped into the Black river. Amid the cheers of several hundred spectators and the traditional champagne christening, the 65-foot long Princess was tugged into the water by two fishing tugs. The boat, painted white with bright yellow embellishments, was built over the past four years by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hoffman. They are the previous owners and builders of the Island Queen excursion boats which have plied the waters around the Saugatuck-Douglas area since the early 1950s.

Hoffman hopes to have the Princess ready for her maiden voyage by the July 4, weekend. In the meantime, he must put the boat through Coast Guard stability tests. He noted that the steel boat has six watertight compartments. It has been designed so that the boat could still float with any two of the compartments flooded.

JUDGE-WRITER DIES
BOSTON (AP) — Robert Sullivan, the Massachusetts criminal trial judge and student of 19th century murder cases who wrote "Goodbye, Lizzie Borden" and "The Disappearance of Dr. Parkman," died Saturday at 59 following a lengthy illness.

JUST BEFORE CHRISTENING: Some of several hundred people who were present for christening and launch of new excursion boat get closer look before ceremonies Saturday. Fifty-ton vessel was launched into Black river with aid of two tugs.

The boat will be able to carry up to 165 passengers. It is 24 feet wide and is powered by a diesel engine. Estimated speed will be 10 miles per hour.

Saturday's launching was accomplished without a hitch. Burr Tillstrom, founder of the program Kukla, Fran and Ollie and a summer resident of Saugatuck, was master of ceremonies. The Rev. Verne Hult, pastor of All Saints Episcopal church in Saugatuck, blessed the ship while the Hoffman daughters, Annie and Katie, did the christening.

Viking Prepares To Scan Its Mars Landing Site

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1, which has completed its first sweep around Mars, was scheduled today to narrow down today so the spacecraft can probe its scheduled July 4 landing site for potential hazards.

Earth-bound controllers prepared to fire Viking 1's on-board engines at 1:33 p.m. EDT and while its orbit from a 42.1-hour path around the planet to one corresponding to the number of hours in a Martian day — 24 hours and 37 minutes. The spacecraft was made ready to fire its rocket engine on reaching a point 940 miles above the site where its robot laboratory lander will set down on America's birthday.

At about 2 p.m. EDT Tuesday, Viking will begin a photographic session that will last until landing day. Using stereo cameras that produce three-dimensional images, the spacecraft will scan the ancient valley for any hazards that could damage the lab when it descends to the surface.

The predetermined site is thought to be smooth and gently rolling.

The craft also will be using infrared equipment to check for temperature differences across the Martian surface and water content in its atmosphere.

In its new elliptical orbit, Viking's distance from the planet will vary from 830 miles to 20,000 miles.

Viking 1, which has a companion ship following 10 million miles behind, arrived near Mars on Saturday, fired a 38-minute braking burst and swung into orbit. Mission officials at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the maneuver was precise, "as if it had been following a textbook."

"After eight years, we're finally in orbit," said Jim Martin, manager of the Viking project that officially began in 1968.

Mission director Tom Young noted that the flawless orbit maneuver following a 440-million-mile trip from earth was a "significant feat," but only a first step in Viking's search for life on Mars.

Certifying the landing site as safe for touchdown — a process taking at least 10 days — was to have started Sunday, according to the original plan. But a mechanical problem — since solved — forced controllers to send Viking into a larger first orbit that would not put the ship into position for starting its observations until Tuesday.

Nevertheless, Young said, "We feel confident we have the proper time-line" to survey the site. "If we are not satisfied with the data," he added, "we will delay the landing if that is the safe and proper thing to do."

Also in orbit around Mars are several lifeless probes from previous U.S. and Soviet missions, including Mariner 9, which made extensive studies of Mars in 1971. Photographs from Mariner 9 gave scientists a little encouragement that the planet might once have had running water, and those photographs were used in selecting likely landing sites for the two Vikings.

HEALTH NEWS...

About Headaches That Ache Here, Here and Here

"I have headaches...here, here and here. That's not a migraine is it Doc?"

"Probably not," says Dr. Vince Ackerman Of The Ackerman Chiropractic Center. "But," he adds, "if it's a chronic condition, they can be just as painful, just as unbearable and present just as serious problems to a patient's well-being."

A patient who can "put his finger on his headache" is very possibly suffering from a cervical headache. Frequently they become chronic conditions and affect a person almost as regularly as the sun rises and sets.

"The general pattern of the cervical headache pain is that it is present in the mornings, subsides during the day and recurs a few hours in late afternoon," says Dr. Ackerman. "It is accompanied by tender 'spots' in the scalp and neck."

According to Dr. Ackerman, cervical headache pain is located in the back of the head and upper neck and radiates forward to the temple. Occasionally the pain is referred to the eye. Less frequently burning pain is experienced across the shoulders and upper back.

What causes a cervical headache?

"Most are due to irritation to the upper spinal nerves as they pass through small partially occluded openings in the spine near the base of the skull," states Dr. Ackerman. "The irritated nerves then pass through the soft tissues of the scalp where they are compressed to the point of pain."

The irritation to these upper spinal nerves can be caused by a fall or jolt to the head, neck or back (and commonly caused in auto accidents); through hereditary spinal defects; or from constant muscular tension due to stress brought on by the fast pace of modern day living.

By the very nature of the conditions that cause cervical headaches, they virtually always become chronic problems if left untreated.

"And the difficulties generally do not stop with a daily headache either," says Dr. Ackerman. "Recurring headaches cause tension that in turn can develop into chronic nervousness, digestive problems and irregularity or insomnia," he notes.

Dr. Ackerman urges individuals with headaches and tender spots in the scalp and neck to seek immediate treatment and care. "And headache pills and drugs are not the answer," he says.

"You must remember," Dr. Ackerman notes, "that pain pills sold across the counter offer, at best, 'temporary relief.' If any at all, and frequently upset the stomach and bring on nervousness. And, over a long haul, they can cost literally a fortune."

Headaches due to irritation of the upper spinal nerves usually respond readily to the specialized care offered by the Ackerman Chiropractic Center.

"Quite honestly," says Dr. Ackerman "our goal is the permanent correction of a headache problem. It's a joyous day for both Doctor and the patient who no longer has a headache he can put his finger on."

Dr. Ackerman maintains offices at 3918 Red Arrow Hwy., St. Joseph (Telephone 423-1700.)

Congressional Retiree Pay Tops $51,000

By EDMOND LABRETTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives and senators leaving Congress at the end of this year will take some substantial financial consolation with them into retirement in the form of pensions ranging in most cases from around $11,000 to more than $51,000.

The top retirement pay under the congressional formula would go to House Speaker Carl Albert, who draws the highest current salary of any of the retirees, $85,600, and has enough combined congressional and military service to put him in the maximum percentage bracket for pension determination.

Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., can expect annual retirement pay of more than $40,000. Their current pay as majority and minority leaders, respectively, is $32,000.

At the other end of the scale is a group of members retiring after 10 years of service, indicating a pension of about $10,800.

All these pension computations are unofficial. It is impossible now to calculate exactly what a retiring member will receive because Congress may get another pay raise before the year is over.

Members contribute 8 per cent of their salary to the retirement fund and the government puts in a contribution that makes up the difference. Members' pensions are based on length of service and on the average salary in their three highest-paid years.

For each year of service, a member receives 2.5 per cent of the high-three average. Military service up to five years may be added to congressional service. Under somewhat different formulas, government service other than in Congress also may be counted in.

The maximum pension, regardless of length of service, is 90 per cent of the three-year average. Thus a member reaches the limit with 32 years of service.

Congressional pay last year was tied to the cost-of-living adjustment formula applicable in federal workers generally. Congress got a 3 per cent increase last October. The unofficial computations assume another 5 per cent increase this year.

For a member drawing no special pay because of a leadership post, the indicated maximum pension would be about $14,800, based on current pay of $44,800 and this year's assumed pay increase.

Five retirees meet the maximum service requirement: Reps. Robert E. Jones, D-Ala.; Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa.; Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.; F. Edward Hebert, D-La.; and Ray J. Madden, D-Ind.

MARRYING AGAIN: Jewell Bagley, 87, of Placerville, Calif., and Mae Harris, 79, of Kirkland, Wash., were to marry for the second time Sunday. They called it quits after 26 years of their first marriage in 1940, but their children and loneliness have brought them together again. (AP Wirephoto)

EVIDENCE IN JFK PROBE

Did Castro Have Motive?

By DAVID C. MARTIN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee has pieced together a Brazilian connection that informed sources say provides further circumstantial evidence that Cuba's Fidel Castro knew about a CIA plot against his life.

These sources noted that the CIA plot continued despite Castro's apparent knowledge and that this adds weight to the never-proven theory that the Cuban dictator had a motive to order the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In September 1963, a Cuban CIA operative, code-named "AM-LASH," contacted a U.S. intelligence agent in Brazil where they discussed assassinating Castro, the sources say. Two days later, Castro chose the Brazilian embassy in Havana as the site for an impromptu news conference at which he publicly warned that "U.S. leaders should think that if they are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe."

"The fact that Castro chose the Brazilian embassy as the site to make his remarks was taken (by the committee) as an indication that he knew" about the CIA plot, one source close to the committee said.

"If you were dealing with a clod, you might dismiss it," this source added, "but Castro was a bright fellow who liked nuance."

The sources said that the Brazilian connection should have triggered alarms within the CIA that the undercover agent, a highly placed official in the Cuban government, was a double agent keeping Castro informed of every development in the assassination plot.

Instead, the plot continued, with CIA officers secretly meeting AM-LASH in various parts of the world through October and November 1963.

At a meeting in October, a CIA officer named Desmond Fitzgerald identified himself as the personal representative of the President's brother, then, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the sources said.

The final meeting between AM-LASH and Fitzgerald, at which the CIA officer delivered an assassination device, occurred on Nov. 22, the day Kennedy was killed in Dallas.

Sources said the continued existence of the plot in the face of strong signals sent by Castro, along with Fitzgerald's claim to AM-LASH that he was representing the President's brother, could have formed the motive for the Kennedy assassination. However, these sources stressed that there is no hard evidence linking Castro to Kennedy's death.

Castro recently denied any connection with the assassination.

Carter Cool To Party Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Jimmy Carter have shown they are uninterested in pushing major structural changes within the Democratic party during the party's national convention in New York City next month.

Carter forces were in firm control as the party's rules committee defeated nearly every proposal for substantial change considered in two days of weekend meetings. The committee sets the agenda for the convention and recommends changes in procedure.

Carter, the Democrats' apparent presidential nominee, lacks only 82 of the 1,500 delegates needed to win the nomination.

Among the unsuccessful proposals were moves to establish a system for selecting a vice president and to require that women constitute 50 per cent of convention delegates.

Meanwhile, Ronald Reagan cut President Ford's delegate lead by 17 and predicted a first-ballot victory at the GOP national convention. The Associated Press tally shows Ford with 1,605 delegates pledged to him after weekend delegate selection in five states. Reagan had 1,322.

There are 157 delegates remaining to be chosen and 164 in the uncommitted category. To win, a candidate needs 1,190.

Spending Bills Face Ax

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan lawmakers this week face the task of chopping their soaring budget appropriations to match Gov. William Milliken's spending recommendations and estimated revenues for the months ahead.

With just two weeks to go before the legislature's planned break for a summer campaign recess, budget bills are flying far above Milliken's proposals. Both the House and Senate expect to hold increasingly longer sessions in an attempt to wrap up debates on spending.

The budget process this year has been complicated by the extension of the current fiscal year three months, from June 30 to Sept. 30.

While that helped balance the current budget by picking up a bookkeeping savings of about $100 million, it also required passage of a three-month "mini-budget" to keep the state operating for that time.

The mini-budget has been written simultaneously with the massive budget for fiscal 1976-77, which begins Oct. 1. But appropriation bills, as now written, far exceed revenue for both budgets.

According to the Senate Fiscal Agency, the legislature's 1976-77 budget is some $200 million over the governor's latest recommendation of $3,326 billion. That includes a school aid bill some $64 million over, social services appropriations almost $40 million over, and mental health some $21 million over gubernatorial recommendations.

All figures are "as best as we know them," agency director Eugene Farnum cautioned. The budget process is noted for wide fluctuations of tens of millions of dollars, depending on who supplies the figures and when they are calculated.

Most budget bills have passed one chamber or the other, and some have reached House-Senate conference committees, where the pruning process gets serious.

But some legislative leaders are still considering adjourning for the summer with part of the 1976-77 budget undone—as long as crucial education appropriations are passed to give schools and colleges time to prepare for fall classes.

The three-month budget is even more pressing. It must be passed by July 1 to keep the state going, and is now some $50 million over the governor's recommendation of $806 million.

Gov. William Milliken reappointed Dr. J. Vincent Murphy of Grand Blanc and Walter F. Patenge of East Lansing.

Murphy is a medical consultant and physician to the legislature, while Patenge is president of the Wobler Corp.

Both have served on the board for six years.

Police Gird For Slayings

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police officers are being warned each day as they report for work that a terrorist group plans to "kill a cop a day in each state" in the near future.

Acting on information sent to police departments across the country by the Connecticut State Police, Detroit police officials have ordered that officers be read the details of the alleged plot at every roll-call in each precinct. In addition, the department has set up a special procedure for officers to follow if they spot vehicles said to be part of the plot.

Other Detroit-area law enforcement agencies are also informing officers of the plot information.

Connecticut state police said that a Bureau of Indian Affairs spokesman gave them unverified information that the American Indian Movement (AIM), the Brown Berets (a Chicago activist organization) and the Students for a Democratic Society have formed a coalition for "disturbance and terrorism" scheduled to start July 4.

However, top officials for the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington said Sunday they have never heard of such a plot and that the information did not come from a BIA spokesman.

FBI officials in Detroit, Denver and Washington also said they have found no evidence of any police assassination conspiracy.

A spokesman at the AIM headquarters in Denver called the information "nonsense."

Three-Year, $1.3 Million Teamster Drive Detailed

DETROIT (AP) — The Teamsters Union spent more than $1.3 million on a three-year nationwide organizing campaign riddled with violence that signed up just 750 drivers at 35 small companies, according to a Detroit newspaper.

The Detroit Free Press, in a copyrighted story, said organizers' techniques ranged from "heavy-handed" "persuasion" to strong-arm tactics including shuntings, beatings, arson, vandalism and sabotage.

The organizing campaign featured visits by Teamster organizers to truck company employers who were beset with labor troubles unless they signed contracts, the newspaper reported.

The campaign was financed and monitored by the general executive board of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and run by general organizer Rolland B. McMaster of Detroit, according to the newspaper. But at least one report filed by McMaster to the executive board was full of false information, it added.

The Free Press said the campaign originally was intended to recruit new members from an estimated 150,000 nonunion truck drivers. In a report, McMaster claimed to have organized 1,587 employees at 51 companies.

But eight of those companies already had been organized by the Teamsters, three said they were organized by local unions, not McMaster; three others were nonunion, and two were firms the Teamsters failed to organize, the Free Press reported.

The campaign actually signed up about 570 drivers at 35 small companies, 11 of which later went out of business.

An old friend of McMaster, W. R. Dinninger, a retired Teamster business agent turned labor consultant, appeared at some trouble spots, including the Belmoy firm.

The Free Press said Dinninger approached at least eight companies already facing strikes or threatened with strikes.

Owners were quoted by the newspaper as saying Dinninger told them for a price he would guarantee that Teamster organizers would either go away or would agree to a "sweetheart" or substandard contract providing benefits substantially cheaper for the employer than those in the national Teamster contract.

If Dinninger actually had been able to do this by in turn paying someone in the union, his actions would have been illegal. But both Dinninger and McMaster have insisted they were not working together and no money changed hands between them, the Free Press said.

Meanwhile, Teamsters Union International vice president Harold Gibbons will meet with officials of troubled Local 299 in Detroit this week to try to settle the local's internal conflicts over who will succeed retiring president Dave Johnson.

But a reform group of Local 299 rank-and-filers called Sunday for a mass rally at the union hall today to show opposition to any intervention by international officials in the local's internal affairs.

The events followed conflicting reports over a "closed-door" meeting at the union's International Convention last week in Las Vegas, during which International officials reportedly pressured Local 299 board members to accept intervention of a trustee to take over the local's affairs.

NOT GUILTY: That was the verdict reached over the weekend by a jury in Genesee County Circuit Court in the trial of Flint patrolwoman Madeline Fletcher. She is shown with her attorney, Kenneth V. Cockrel, as newsmen interviewed them outside the courthouse. Acquitted Policewoman Will Seek Reinstatement On Force FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Madeline Fletcher plans to seek reinstatement on the Flint police force after her acquittal Saturday of charges of assaulting a white male officer in a dispute over who would drive their patrol car.

A Genesee County Circuit Court jury returned the innocent verdict Saturday, ending the 5½-week trial of Miss Fletcher, a 20-year-old black woman.

She had been charged with assault with intent to commit a great bodily harm after a Dec. 27 shooting at the Flint police station. The incident reportedly began when Miss Fletcher's partner, officer Walter Kalberer, tried to remove her from the driver's seat of their patrol car.

The shootout, which involved five other officers with a total of 14 shots fired, ended with both Kalberer and Miss Fletcher wounded and hospitalized. She later was suspended from the Flint force.

Miss Fletcher's attorney, Kenneth V. Cockrel, said he plans to seek her full reinstatement to the force before a police board of inquiry which has been investigating the shooting and the roles of the officers allegedly involved.

To date the only public action taken by that board has been to suspend Miss Fletcher and to recommend her dismissal.

No action has been taken against Kalberer, who remains on active duty, or against any of the other officers allegedly involved in the incident.

ON WAKE ISLAND BATTLE COMMAND History Buff Proving His Point

By BOB NOVOSAD

OTSEGO, Mich. (AP) — After 35 years, Leon D. Boone may have helped a retired Navy admiral regain his rightful place in history.

Boone is an avowed military history buff. He is convinced that history books and the U.S. Navy have credited the wrong man for commanding troops during the World War II battle of Wake Island.

Boone says Rear Admiral (then Commander) Winfield S. Cunningham, U.S. Navy, commanded American forces, not Maj. James Deveraux of the U.S. Marine Corps as history books and a 1942 Unit Commendation issued by President Franklin D. Roosevelt indicate. Trying to set the record straight, Boone contacted Congressman Garry Brown of Schoolcraft. Brown studied the matter and concurred.

Recently Brown wrote President Ford requesting that he issue a Unit Commendation recognizing Adm. Cunningham for his role in the Wake Island battle.

"I'm really flabbergasted by it all," Boone said. "It's sort of like 'Mr. Smith Goes to Washington.' I never thought I had a chance."

In his letter to Ford requesting a new Unit Commendation, Brown also said:

"Your action will also clearly demonstrate to the many interested parties that wrongs can be righted by citizens petitioning their government leaders."

Boone, who owns Jim's Tavern in Otsego, says he first became interested in the historical mixup when he read a 1961 book by the admiral called "Wake Island Command."

In the book, Cunningham related his unsuccessful efforts since 1947 to get the U.S. Navy to rectify the situation.

In Memphis, Tenn., where he lives, Cunningham said he was stunned in 1947 when the Navy said nothing could be done because Roosevelt had died.

"I didn't try again after that until I wrote my book," Cunningham said. "I THOUGHT MY MEMOIRS WOULD GET SOME ACTION, BUT NOTHING EVER HAPPENED."

Nothing happened, that is, until April 1975 when Boone started his grass-roots campaign.

Boone became friends with

Ralph Holowski, a Wake Island survivor who now is sheriff of Otsego County in northern Michigan. Together, they traveled to Washington to meet with Brown.

At the congressman's office, Boone presented evidence to back up his contention. Holowski didn't get to meet Brown because a traffic jam nearly made the pair late for the meeting, and he had to park the car.

"We figured it was better that one of us was there than for both of us to come in late," Boone said.

Brown took it from there and had his staff look into the matter. A check with the Congressional Research Service showed that Cunningham had indeed been commander of all troops during the battle.

Along the way, work by Prof. Duane Schultz of American University also has helped. He is writing a book on the Wake Island fight and also believes Cunningham was wronged.

Wake Island fell to the Japanese 16 days after the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941. Cunningham surrendered the troops and was taken prisoner. He was held in prison camps until 1945, although he escaped twice, only to be recaptured. During his incarceration, he faced three court martials.

Cunningham said when he returned home after the war, he was astonished to learn that according to Navy accounts, Deveraux was the real "hero" of the battle.

His only role, it seemed, was to have issued the surrender order. When Roosevelt issued his Unit Commendation citing the Wake defenders, Cunningham wasn't even specifically mentioned. According to Boone, Deveraux commanded land forces in the battle but was not in charge of all troops. After the war, Deveraux went on to become a member of the Maryland House of Representatives.

He also ran unsuccessfully for the state's governorship. Cunningham is 76 now and feels relieved that the error may be corrected in his lifetime.

"If it doesn't go through, I won't be broken-hearted," he said. "I lived with this most of my life, but it would be nice to have the record set straight."

Commerce Chief Drawing Fire

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate majority leader has blasted an administration official for "needlessly painting a bad picture of Michigan's business climate."

Sen. William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, made his remarks in rebuttal to a statement by Commerce Director Richard Helmreich. Helmreich said worker's compensation legislation passed by the Senate "does a disservice to existing business in this state and discourages outside interests to expand here."

Suspended Judge Requests Rehearing By Supreme Court

CHARLOTTE, Mich. (AP) — Suspended Circuit Court Judge Wilford Mikesell has asked the Michigan Supreme Court for a rehearing.

One of the key points in the appeal is whether Mikesell's suspension can run beyond his current term. John L. Collins of Lansing, attorney for the judge, contended the court has no authority to suspend Mikesell beyond his present term.

The judge was suspended for 18 months by the state's highest court May 28. His term expires Dec. 31, but Mikesell is seeking re-election.

Mikesell, circuit judge for Barry and Eaton counties, was ordered suspended on grounds he lacked judicial temperament. A court official said the Supreme Court seldom grants rehearings.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 21st, the 173rd day of 1976. There are 193 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1788, the United States Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it.

On this date: In 1834, the American inventor, Cyrus McCormick, was granted a patent on his reaping machine.

In 1898, the first U.S. troops landed in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1919, part of a German fleet interned at Scapa Flow in Scotland was scuttled by the German crewmen.

In 1942, in World War II, 30,000 British soldiers were taken prisoner as the stronghold of Tobruk in Libya fell to the Germans.

In 1945, Japanese forces on the island of Okinawa surrendered to the Americans. In 1963, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Milan, Italy, was elected Pope. He took the name of Paul VI.

Ten years ago: Shots were exchanged during a civil rights march in Philadelphia, Miss. One person was wounded.

One year ago: The new military rulers of Portugal called for a classless society but they ruled with violent means to reach their goal.

Today's birthdays: French existentialist philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre is 71 years old. Actress Jane Russell is 53.

Thought for today: More history is made by secret handshakes than by battles, bills and proclamations — contemporary novelist John Barth. Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Thomas Jefferson showed his draft of the Declaration of Independence to John Adams and others.

TAKES LAST LOOK: W. Howard Fineout, engineer on the Boyne City Railroad in Northern Michigan for 19 years, takes a last look from cab of "Ladybug," the diesel electric locomotive used on the line.

Boyne Line Only A Memory Now

By CAROL J. WINDSOR
BOYNE CITY, MICH. (AP) — Wild strawberries bloom along the silent tracks of the Boyne City Railroad.

And although the purchase of the railroad at a public auction by local businessmen may have been the big story recently, other stories were everywhere. Memories of the early days of railroading abound in this spring-green country of soft, rolling hills cradling lakes in their valleys.

The tracks stretch 7.2 miles between Boyne City and Boyne Falls, dodging small farms and widely-spaced homes. Moore Junction, Cushman and Doyle, with their fantasyland passenger shelters, are reminders of days of profit for the line.

At one end of the line, a 21-foot high fiberglass statue of a railroad engineer guarded the Boyne Falls station, a tiny Victorian building. The engineer later would be sold for $2,000.

Lake Charlevoix lies at the other end of the line. Nestling swans and ducks dogged through the cattails gone to seed. Inside the roundhouse, W. Howard Fineout, who for 19 years was engineer on the line, points with pride to "Ladybug," the diesel electric locomotive. Soon it, too, would be on the auction block.

In the last years of the railroad's life, 25,000 passengers a year made the trip between Boyne Falls and Boyne City. The energy crisis forced the line to close in 1973, Fineout said.

Men in business suits and hats mingle at the auction with bearded traders. They fiddle with furniture, poking through sacks of baggage checks and testing reluctant, rusted machines.

Children walk the rails with tightrope talents. Some gallop and tumble around unfamiliar merchandise. A coal scuttle, telegraph equipment, switch lanterns and a porcelain Western Union sign are more strange to them than lunar landings.

Bidders from all over the country wait. Tennessee, Florida, Oklahoma and California will be home to many items before the day is over.

The auction begins, and the bidding is brisk. Kruse Auction Co. of Auburn, Ind., is in charge. The first item is a brakeman's lantern. It goes for $22.50. A box of 15 rubber stamps is sold for $55, and a battery lantern for $35. An expert nearby says the lantern could be bought in any store for $10.

Throughout the crowd, those who have come for bargains are shaking their heads. The enthusiasm of the auctioneer and the pace of the bids have put the prices out of reach of most ordinary bidders.

No bargains here. The $55 paid for a brass spittoon draws grins from some in the crowd. A bag of old railroad tickets goes for $80. There are a dozen more like them. The auctioneer kindly the crowd: "You'd have $10,000 worth of tickets — if you could use them."

Weldon Price, a Charlevoix antique dealer, shakes his head. Later he'll buy a pot-bellied stove for $170, but right now he's discouraged. "They've got to get the junk out early," he says.

Watching in the crowd, former employees of the railroad see the tools of their jobs being carted off by new purchasers.

Austin J. Sevens, former auditor of the railroad, sees the office he worked in emptied, piece by piece. Sevens sketches the railroad's history, which dates to 1884.

It began in that year as the Boyne City & Southeastern Railroad, he said. The founder of the railroad was William A. White. (A picture of White was sold for $55.)

Elk Rapids Man Is Accused In Strangling

ELK RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A 22-year-old Elk Rapids man was arrested Friday and charged with strangling a woman at her cottage. Antrim County Prosecutor James Young identified the man in custody as Victor J. Cole Jr.

Cole is charged with murdering Pamela Ann Basenett, 28, whose partially clothed body was discovered in her Elk Rapids cottage June 10 by a neighbor.

In 1820, a few Navy men assisted in a birth... that of a nation.

The history books will tell you that in 1820, the first group of free blacks journeyed back to Africa escorted by a Navy ship. But when they arrived at the African country that is now Sierra Leone, they were refused entry.

The Navy is proud to tell you that the freedom and the dreams of these free blacks to colonize was preserved, because the Navy continued to sail down the coast of Africa to Cape Mesurado, which led to the establishment of the country of Liberia.

For many men, when they joined the Navy, they helped to change the course of the world.

And as the United States is celebrating its Bicentennial, the Navy is saluting those of its men who contributed to our country's historic efforts toward the betterment of mankind.

But as the Navy celebrates its past, maybe it's time for you to think about your future in the Navy. There's history yet to be made, and maybe you can make it in the Navy. For the full story about the careers and opportunities the Navy has to offer you, all you have to do is send us the coupon below, see your Navy recruiter, or call toll free 800-841-8000 (in Georgia, 800-342-5855).

If you join the Navy, who knows what the history books might have to say about you.

Build your future on a proud tradition.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

With 15 million corncob pipes manufactured last year in the United States, the corncob pipe business is booming once again. Smokers returned to the corncob pipe in great numbers after the 1964 Surgeon General's report on smoking and cancer. Henry Tibbe made the first corncob pipe in his woodworking shop in Washington, Mo., in 1869. The World Almanac reports, at the urging of a farmer named John Scharake.

Officials Probe Isabel's Jail 'Relationship'

Q: Is ousted president of Argentina, Isabel Peron, in jail? — F.A., Tulsa, Okla.

A: Mrs. Peron has been in custody since March when she was arrested by the military junta that seized the government. But her confinement can't be too restrictive because the report is that an army officer has been detained after discovery of his "intimate relationship" with Isabel. Authorities are said to be investigating to find out if wrongdoing was involved or the "relationship" was one of "genuine emotion."

Q: I can't imagine a couple like footballer Joe Namath and Ingrid Bergman's daughter Isabella Rossellini. Can you explain it? — R.B., Sarasota, Fla.

A: It was springtime in Rome and she's pretty and he's got charisma — so why not? Broadway Joe's charm has always seemed too outsize to be wasted on the small-time jock playboy circuit. Now that he's discovered the international set he may have found the proper stage to test his real scope. And remember, Joe's rich, famous and a great competitor.

Q: Has Hayley Mills had that child yet by the young actor she went to live with when she left her husband? — K.E., Duluth, Minn.

A: The baby is expected soon but some financial problems are developing since Hayley, 30, can't expect any support from her husband Roy Boulting, 63, and her boyfriend, Leigh Lawson, long unemployed, took a film job in Italy that will keep him away from home for a while. At the moment, Hayley is in no shape to take on an acting assignment herself but she is not despairing. "We are still very much in love and happy together," she says, "and these problems will be worked out."

CHANGING PLACES? Is the New York Times going to lose its star woman editor? Charlotte Curtis has been seen in Washington lunching with Washington Post editor Ben Bradlee and his staff. They'd like her to take over the Post's Style section and maybe she will.

NOW WE KNOW? All of a sudden, Chinese dinners are the meal of choice catered Hollywood parties. Why? Everyone wants to serve the newest dessert — X-rated fortune cookies.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Did President Ford's daughter Susan pose for a magazine ad? Actually, the ad mainly features Peter Sellers with a British camera but also displays some of the snaps he took. One of the Sellers photographs is of Susan Ford. We

A: That picture is turning out to be the mystery of the ages. The film has been in production for a costly six months and no one seems to know what's going

June Bug Grubs May Get New Lease On Life

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — June bugs were busting out all over this spring, and a man who knows them says things could be even worse next year.

That's because the federal Environmental Protection Agency is considering banning chlordane, called the only effective pesticide for the pesky white grubs that grow into adult June bugs.

Because a June bug's lifecycle is three years long, the white, adolescent grubs that feast on grass roots also can be expected to hit green lawns and attack some vegetable crops this summer and next before emerging as an adult in the spring of 1978.

Michigan State University entomologist Donald Cress says a dose of chlordane in late summer or early fall should kill the grubs and prevent the brown spindles from occurring again next summer.

But if chlordane is banned, there likely will be no relief, said Cress.

"I don't know what we're going to do. We don't have anything else effective against white grubs," he said. Pesticides are, however, available to kill grubs from other beetles.

"My major concern is with commercial agriculture. If the number of adults we're seeing here now are laying viable eggs, which I'm dead sure they are, there could be real serious problems," he said.

"And if you couple that with the situation with chlordane, it's an alarming thing."

Hearings on banning the pesticide, which some say is infiltrating the food chain and may cause cancer, will open later this month in Washington. A decision could come within months, or could take years.

Without chlordane, not only lawns but some crops like potatoes and sweet corn, would be vulnerable to the large, fat grub worms that curl into a 'c' in the soil, Cress said.

Cress reports that chemical companies have been stymied in their efforts to find an effective pesticide that is not only potent but lingers in the soil long enough to keep killing the grubs.

"A lot of new chemicals are a lot more toxic, but they just don't have the staying power to control the grubs," said Cress. And the chemical companies "are just bating up against a wall. They haven't got anything at this point."

The adult beetles, which may be more than an inch long with six clawed legs and a hard shell, actually create few problems, he said. "They mate, lay eggs, then expire. That's their sole purpose," he says.

That means this year's high population will be gone by July 1, although the grubs will linger.

FLOYD McFALL AND DIVINING ROD

Water Witchers Ignore Skeptics, Claim Success

By BILL DALTON
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Scientists say it's a lot of bunk, some professional well drillers say it's hokey.

But Ypsilanti's Dorothy Ward Patt and Milan's Floyd McFall say they've been doing it all their lives — and although they can't explain it, it works.

It's the "unscientific" way of finding water using crude but purportedly effective technology called a divining rod. Those who use it in finding the precious H₂O are called "dowsers," although Mrs. Patt has always heard it referred to as "witching water."

And to anyone witnessing her or McFall "witching water," using a Y-shaped stick cut from a peach, willow, or any kind of tree, according to McFall, the ritual is strangely supernatural.

"I don't concentrate or do anything special," he said. "I just walk and the stick starts turning, and I can't control it. If the stick's too brittle it will break right in pieces."

"I have to wear gloves sometimes because the power hurts my hands, but the movement of the stick tells me how good a vein of water it is," Mrs. Patt said. She has been witching water at least 40 years and so far "I've never failed a well," she said.

One of her gushers was her next-door neighbor's, the Hickory Woods Golf Course.

Mrs. Patt said she also can tell how far down they'll have to drill using a long switch.

"I got down on one knee, put the switch tip to the ground, raise it up and down and it just starts bending," she said. "Every bend means a foot; so far it's been accurate. I told the golf course they'd get water at 68 feet. They found it, 3,000 gallons an hour," Mrs. Patt said.

And according to Mrs. Dorothy Rutherford, golf course pro shop clerk, that's exactly what happened in 1964 when the course was opened. "If you see it, I guess you've got to believe it," she said.

For McFall, 75, who was a Washtenaw County Road Commission road grade operator for 30 years, the art of dowsing just sort of came naturally, he

"There's no trick, it's got to be in a person's body. Some take the stick and nothing happens and laugh," he said. "I've got 11 children, and only my one daughter can do it, the rest don't believe it."

For some dowsers, he said, the stick pulls down when they're over water. But McFall said his always pulls up toward him. And when he does, he can't hold it for the life of him, he said, slowly walking around his back yard with a willow branch held in front of him like some magical charm.

Suddenly it began to quiver. McFall almost goes down on one knee, gives a grunt or two, and the stick finally comes back toward him.

"Right here," he shouts pointing to a spot on the ground. His hands have flecks of blood from where the stick had turned in his hands.

"I've had the bark come right off the power is so strong," he said. "I don't care what kind of stick you have just as long as it's wet. I can't 'witch' the water there, like magic. But if it's there, I'll find it."

He estimates he has found some 25 wells in 25 years. Just doing the dowsing as a favor for friends tired of coming up with "dry holes," he said.

McFall knows there are a lot of skeptics, especially the professional well drillers.

"A lot of them have told me they don't believe in it," he said. "Then I ask them if they dig a lot of dry holes and they say 'yes,'" McFall said, smiling.

The use of divining rods goes back to the ancient Egyptians, Mesopotamians, Greeks and Romans. Marco Polo found they were used in the Orient in the late 13th and early 14th centuries.

But extensive scientific investigation allegedly has proved the rods don't react in any way to underground presence of water.

Scientists say any wood or metal held as it is by dowsers will twist when the squeezing force is relaxed slightly and slight muscular fatigue can lead to such relaxing without the operator even being aware of it.

Great Birdie Finish Clincher

Pate U.S. Open Champ

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) — Young Jerry Pate looked at his ball nestled in a clump of Bermuda rough and measured his target, a flagstick sitting treacherously close to the front of a finger-thin green guarded by an expanse of water.

"I turned to my caddy, John Cousidine," he said, "and I told him, 'I've got to go for it. This is my one big chance to win the Open.'"

Pate took a five-iron from his bag.

"I had a good lie — I fell sure I could make it," he said. "I was all pumped up."

While thousands watched from the rain-drenched wings of the Atlanta Athletic Club — the club Bob Jones once belonged to — Pate swung gracefully and the ball arched toward the flag as if drawn by an invisible magnet and rested two feet from the cup.

"I knew then I had won the Open," he said.

The dramatic shot, which will go down in golfing annals as one of the greatest ever executed under extreme pressure, gave the rookie pro from Pensacola, Fla., a birdie finish for a final 68 and a two-stroke victory with 277.

Temperamental Tom Weiskopf, and gangling Al

Geiberger made plucky stabs at winning but fell short after firing rounds of 68 and 69, respectively, for 279. For the second year in a row, cherub-faced John Mahaffey saw the prize wrenched from his grasp as he finished bogey-bogey-bogey for a 73 that tied him at 280 with Butch Baird, an outsider wearing thick glasses and a wide-brimmed plantation hat.

"I got tired, I ran out of gas," said Mahaffey, who led until he was tied at the 70th hole of the 72-hole test. "But I will win the Open one day. You can print that."

He tied Lou Graham for the title at Medinah, outside Chicago, last year and lost in a playoff because of a tentative attitude on the putting greens.

He showed no leniency in shooting rounds of 70-68 which gave him the lead after the second and third rounds. The tall, talented Weiskopf exploded three straight birdies, starting at the 68th hole, but saw his hopes doused at the 215-yard 16th where he tried to recover from an impossible lie and scrambled for a bogey.

Hot Pearson Captures MIS 400 Race

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — When you're hot, you're hot, and David Pearson is hot.

The Spartanburg, S.C., stock car driver outlasted and overpowered the cream of NASCAR racing Sunday by piloting his Wood Brothers Mercury to a narrow .77 second victory in the 400-mile race at Michigan International Speedway.

The victory was Pearson's second straight and seventh in 11 starts this season. The triumph was worth $13,595 and brought his 1976 earnings to $172,350, tops on the NASCAR circuit.

"It seems sometimes everything is going your way," he said. "Everything is sure going our way."

Pearson's way lately has been to sit back comfortably just behind the leaders and then take advantage of happenings late in the race.

The happenings Sunday were two caution flags — one with 30 laps to go and the other with just eight remaining.

The victim of the Pearson strategy was Cale Yarborough, who saw a commanding one-mile lead vanish when the field pulled together under the caution.

"That's the way it goes," Yarborough mumbled dejectedly. His Chevrolet led one lap off the pace, just two laps into the contest when a tire went flat. But he swept through the field quickly, used an early yellow flag to make up lost ground and pulled away from everyone for 129 laps.

"There was nothing I could do," when Yarborough was running well, Pearson said.

But Yarborough's Sunday cruise turned sour with about 40 laps to go when "I had to crack a head or something. I was lucky to run second. I'd just a bunch of horsepower. There wasn't any way I could beat him," he said.

The day was not a total loss for Yarborough, whose second-place finish vaulted him past Benny Parsons and into the NASCAR point lead.

The stage was set for another wild finish similar to the one in February at Daytona Beach when a caution light on lap 192 put Pearson, Yarborough, Bobby Allison, and Richard Petty bumper to bumper on the same lap.

When the green flag dropped with two laps to go, Yarborough crept in front but Pearson quickly shot past him. Allison, whose Mercury was prepared by the crew of Roger Penske, owner of MIS, and the Petty Dodge were unable to mount a serious challenge. They finished third and fourth, respectively.

Pearson increased his lead on the last lap as Yarborough's Chevy stumbled.

"I got some weight changed, and Cale wasn't handling good enough," Pearson explained.

The victory was Pearson's fourth in eight runnings of the event at MIS.

"I've always said this is my favorite speedway. If you like one, you do good on it," Pearson added.

Pearson, Yarborough, Allison and Petty were the only drivers among the 30 starters to turn the entire 200 laps around the two-mile, high-banked oval in Michigan's scenic Irish Hills.

Buddy Baker finished fifth, one lap down, despite problems with his eyes.

"I got oily under my goggles the last 50 miles and couldn't see," Baker said. "I think our car was as fast as anything all day, except for Cale."

Oil-dry is used to soak up oil spilled on the track.

The race, run under sunny skies and temperatures in the mid-70s, was sponsored by CAMI motor oil and attracted some 55,000 spectators. It formerly was known as the Motor State 400.

Allison, who started alongside Petty in the front row, took the lead for the first two

Thompson Homer Trips Twins

Tigers' Fidyrych Posts Sixth Victory

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Detroit rookie Jason Thompson says he doesn't try to hit home runs, but you'd never get the Minnesota Twins to believe it.

Thompson, a muscular left-handed hitting 21-year-old rookie, slammed a three-run homer and a run-scoring single Sunday to lead the Tigers and rookie pitcher ace, Mark Fidrych to a 7-3 victory over Minnesota. He had also slammed a three-run homer Saturday in a 6-4 loss to the Twins.

"Really, I don't try and hit home runs," said the 6-foot-1, 205-pound rookie, who now has eight home runs. "It was a little slider that broke right over the middle of the plate."

Thompson learned another lesson in his next at bat, when veteran righthander Bill Singer knocked him down with a high, inside pitch.

"I'd heard he (Singer) likes to do that," said Thompson. "I was looking for it. In fact, I thought he might be inside with the next pitch too."

Aurelio Rodriguez, Rusty Staub and streaking Ron LeFlore also drove in Detroit runs. LeFlore went 3-for-5 and hit his average to .336.

Fidrych, 21, had a string of six straight complete games coming into the game. However, he was plagued by wildness and was chased in the eighth inning after Steve Brye tagged a run-scoring double.

"I walked six guys and was lucky to get away with it," said Fidrych, now 6-1. "I didn't feel the same, but don't ask me why."

Tiger Manager Ralph Houk appeared almost apologetic to reporters on his rookie's performance.

"He didn't pitch like Fidrych," said Houk. "He normally has very good control."

Brye, who knocked in two Twins runs with a single and double, and rookie catcher Butch Wynegar paced the Minnesota offense. Wynegar had two singles, a double and scored once and boosted his average to .303.

"He's going to be a real great one," said Houk about the 20-year-old Minnesota catcher. "He's just an outstanding player."

Thompson said he couldn't help but watch Wynegar's performance.

"Naturally, I find myself watching the other rookies," said Thompson. "I don't care if they do well or not though. I just try to do the job myself."

In addition to his 60 base hits, Wynegar leads the Twins with 34 walks. His home runs are second on the light-hitting Minnesota team and he's third in runs batted in with 27.

"There's still a long way to go," said Wynegar. "My folks were here this week and it seems I've always played good when they've come to see me."

Brye, who has hit .486 since May 15 to boost his average to .308, played a key part in Saturday's victory with a double, single, rbi and he also scored once.

"The best man wins," said Twins Manager Gene Mauch in reference to Brye breaking into the Minnesota lineup. "The players were told that in spring training. I'm not married to any of them."

The Twins, who embark on the most unusual week of their 1976 schedule are in California tonight to begin a two-game series while Detroit visits Milwaukee.

Minnesota returns home Wednesday for three games in two days against Chicago before returning to the West Coast Friday night for a weekend series in Oakland.

Birds, Indians Winning, But Can't Catch Yankees

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles know what a treadmill feels like. The Indians, though, have a chance to do something about it.

The Indians outlasted the Kansas City Royals 11-8 Sunday for their eighth victory in 10 games. During that stretch, however, they've gained exactly one-half game on the New York Yankees, season-long leaders in the American League East.

Meanwhile, the Orioles blanked the Texas Rangers 2-0 for their sixth consecutive triumph, a streak that has seen them only stay even with the Yankees, who ran their own winning string to six games with a 6-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

In other AL games, the Boston Red Sox ripped the California Angels 4-3 in 11 innings, the Oakland A's downed the Milwaukee Brewers 7-5 and the Detroit Tigers whipped the Minnesota Twins 7-3.

New York leads runner-up Cleveland by seven games as the two clubs begin a fourgame series at Yankee Stadium tonight.

The Indians led Kansas City 9-0 after three innings. The Royals rallied for eight runs in the fourth before Jim Bibb and two other Cleveland hurlers combined for six innings of shutout relief. Ray Fosse drove in four runs for the Indians while Rico Carty homered.

Mike Cuellar checked Texas on three hits in outdueling Gaylord Perry. It was Texas' fifth consecutive loss and kept the Rangers five games behind KC in the AL West.

Perry breezed through five innings without allowing a hit before Brooks Robinson doubled to lead off the sixth and Dave Duncan singled him home with the only run Cuellar needed.

Thurman Munson's two-run single featured a five-run uprising against ex-Yankee Ken Brett. The loss was the 10th straight for the White Sox, who earlier had won 10 in a row and now own the longest losing and winning streaks in the American League this season.

Rick Burleson's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Bobby Darwin, who had doubled, as the Red Sox beat former teammate Dick Drago. Bobby Bonds' homer put California ahead 3-2 in the sixth inning and Boston tied it in the eighth on a walk to Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Rice's two-out double.

Don Baylor's homer off Bill Travers broke a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning and the A's went on to their fourth triumph in six games since the controversial — and since overruled — sale of stars Vida Blue, Joe Rudi and Rolf Fingers. Milwaukee's Robin Yount had a homer, a pair of doubles and a single and drove in three runs.

BAT FOREST AT COMISKEY: It was bat day and a host of young Chicago White Sox fans showed their support holding their bats high Sunday. The support was appreciated — but the White Sox dropped their 10th game in a row, losing 6-3 to the New York Yankees. (AP Wirephoto)

Bombs Eastern For Series Crown Arizona Romps To Title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — It was ironic that the game clinching Arizona's first national collegiate baseball championship was a romp.

"It seemed nothing was easy for us all year," said Wildcat Coach Jerry Kindall after his team, overwhelmed Eastern Michigan, 7-1, for the title in the 30th College World Series.

"This club has overcome a lot," he continued. "They were criticized and sometimes ridiculed, but they never stopped. They just dug in harder."

And so it was in the College World Series.

Second-ranked Arizona came to the series as "the team that couldn't beat No. 1" — Arizona State.

The Sun Devils won all six regular season meetings and rallied to score a 7-8 victory in the first round of the series over Arizona.

"In their hearts, most of the players thought we won that game and surely was the turning point in the series," said Kindall. "A lesser club would have given up."

From ashes, Arizona struck back through the losers bracket, winning five straight, including victories over Eastern Michigan and Arizona State to reach the finals.

Junior left-hander Bob Chaulk, winning his third series game, and a 14-hit attack were more than Eastern could handle in the final.

"I think they reached a peak in the last two games," said Eastern Coach Ron Oestrike. "I'm disappointed that we didn't give them a heckuva go for it."

The third-rated Hurons, 46-16, were rated a slight edge in the finals because staff ace Bob Welch and Bob Ouchinski were rested.

But as in its previous series games, Arizona came out swinging. Welch lasted only three and two-thirds inning and was shelved for eight hits and four runs.

"After the first inning, we knew Bobby didn't have his fast ball, and he went with the slider and curve," said Oestrike. "That's not near enough against a team like Arizona."

"Arizona gained a 1-0 lead in third and took command an inning later when it sent nine men to the plate and scored four runs. Designated hitter Steve Powers lashed a two-run home run and Dave Stegman doubled in two runs.

Stegman and Pete Van Horne led the assault with three hits and Powers, who was voted the tournament's outstanding player, drove in three runs.

Chaulk didn't allow a runner past second base until the ninth and finished with a six-inning, 11-pitch performance.

"After the fifth inning I knew we were in," said Chaulk. "I had my good stuff."

Arizona, 96-17, became the sixth team in series history to lose its opener and go to capture the championship.

The final night crowd of 11,370 posted total series attendance to 83,455—a record by more than 3,000.

Evert Continues Mastery Over Wade

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

England (AP) — Every little bit helps in championship tennis, and Chris Evert added quite a psychological bit in re-established her superiority over Virginia Wade, one of her major threats for the Wimbledon title.

Seeded first for Wimbledon, which opens for the women Tuesday, Miss Evert, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat Miss Wade, Wimbledon's third seed, in the final of the Eastbourne grass tennis tournament 6-6, 6-3 Sunday. She won the first prize of $16,000.

Miss Evert was seeded first here and Miss Wade second. Miss Evert regained the title that Miss Wade won last year when the American was ill.

Miss Evert, whose chief competition at Wimbledon is expected to come from No. 2-ranked Evonne Cawley of Australia, now has beaten Miss Wade five of six times this year, including four times in tournament play.

"I feel well prepared now for Wimbledon," Miss Evert said. "This tournament not only gave me a chance to become accustomed again to grass, but I also was able to get used to playing two sets in tournament play again."

She had been playing World Team Tennis with its one-set format the last few months with the Phoenix Racquets, winning all but one of her singles matches. The only defeat was to Miss Wade.

Two unearned runs in the third inning that resulted from a throwing error gave Clarkston a 2-1 victory Saturday over Hazel Park and the Class A state high school baseball championship.

The winning pitcher, in relief, was Jeff Schatz, a senior right-hander who allowed only two hits, struck out nine and walked two batters.

In the semifinals, it was Hazel Park 2, Wayne Memorial 0; and Clarkston over Owosso, 3-0.

In the Clarkston-Owosso game, senior left-hander Steve Howe brought his season total to 13-1 and his two-year total to 24-1.

Wyoming Park put its home field to good use Saturday, heating Coldwater, 6-5, to take the state Class B high school baseball championship.

The game went 10 innings before a two-out bloop single by Steve Northuis, Wyoming Park designated hitter, drove in Rick Derridge with the winning run.

Earlier in the game, Northuis scored a run in the bottom of the seventh inning on an infield out by Mike Doorn in tie the game and send it into extra innings.

Wyoming Park finished the season, 23-5.

In semifinal play, Coldwater beat defending state champions Flint Bentley, 10-7. Wyoming took Madison Heights Foley, 7-2.

Ray Saff struck out nine as Blissfield whipped Ravenna, 5-3, to win the Class C high school baseball title Saturday.

Blissfield, 24-2, won a berth in the championship game by beating Standish Sterling, 3-1, in an earlier game. In the other semifinal game, Ravenna ousted Allen Park Cabrin, 3-1.

The score was tied 4-4 in the fifth inning. Blissfield scored on a walk, a stolen base and an error by Ravenna's second baseman.

In the seventh inning, Mike Alcock scored on an RBI single. Alcock, Dan Haecker and Dave Pagel had two runs each for the winners. Brian Wright took the loss for Ravenna.

Climax-Scott walloped Caserville, 10-2, Saturday to claim their second straight Class D high school baseball title.

Winning pitcher Don Ballock, a sophomore, ended his season with a 9-1 record after allowing just five hits, two walks and striking out nine batters.

The big inning for Climax-Scott was the fourth, when they scored four runs on six hits to take a 9-1 lead. John Hallas, John Herring and Randy Mitchell each had two hits.

In semifinal action Caserville beat Potterville, 1-0, on a no-hitter pitched by Brian Watts. Climax-Scott won over Maple City Glen Lake, 4-3.

May Compete In Seven Olympic Events

Babashoff Heads U.S. Swimmers

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Speed and stamina stamp coach Shirley Babashoff as No. 1 among America's women swimmers and the 19-year-old from Fountain Valley, Calif., may be competing in seven Olympic events.

As the U.S. trials end today with three events including the 800-meter women's freestyle, with Shirley the favorite, the Olympic gold medalist of four years ago has four American records in freestyle events. "No, I'm not tired," she declared. "I'm enthusiastic about our 400-meter freestyle relay team."

Miss Babashoff won the 100-meter freestyle final Sunday night in an American record 56.95. Joining her on the sprint relay team will be Jill Sterkel, 57.25, from Hacienda Heights, Calif., Kim Peyton, 57.73 from Portland, Ore., and Wendy Boglietti, 57.80 from Ocean

City, N.J. If Shirley wins or places second in the 800 tonight, she'll be on the U.S. team for the 100, 200, 400 and 800-meter freestyles in which she set her American records, the 400 individual medley, the 400 relay and probably the medley relay, swimming the freestyle final lap.

She's a cinch for five already. Shirley said she doesn't really train for the 100 but rather for the 800, explaining, "My coach trains me for 800, and tells me to turn over faster for the 100."

There were a host of repeaters in Sunday's events and a men's American record in 1,500-meter qualifying, bringing to 12 the total American records, set in the '76 races so far.

Paul Hartloff, who just graduated from high school in Santa Barbara, Calif., swam the metric mile in 15 minutes 17.72 seconds to better the American record of 15:20.95 set by Tim Shaw of Long Beach last year.

Hartloff, 18, out-sprinted favored Bobby Hackett of New Rochelle, N.Y., to win his heat and set the record. Hackett qualified second at 15:18.31 and needs Hartloff and six others, including Shaw, in tonight's finals.

Lauri Stiering of Modesto, Calif., and world record-holder John Hencken became double winners with victories in the 100-meter breaststroke events. Miss Stiering swam 1:14.46 with Marla Morey of Mission Viejo, Calif., second in 1:14.85 — the same order of finish they recorded in the 200-meter race. Hencken, who holds the world mark at 1:04.88, recorded 1:04.20 to beat Chris Woo of Honolulu, 1:05.37 as Woo made the team for the first time. Hencken was on the U.S. team in 1972 and also had won the 200-meter race in these trials to qualify again.

World record holder James Montgomery of Bloomington, Ind., and the University of Indiana, won the men's 100 in 50.35. He had already qualified in 200. But two newcomers joined the team, one with a familiar name.

Joe Bottom of Santa Clara finished second in 51.13 and Jack Babashoff, Shirley's 20-year-old brother, finished third in 51.44.

RECORD BREAKER: Shirley Babashoff, 19, of Fountain Valley, Calif., expresses joy at setting an American mark in the 100-meter freestyle event at Sunday night's Olympic trials in Long Beach. In gaining the victory, she shattered her fourth American record and qualified in her fifth event on the U.S. team. Jill Sterkel, 15, of El Monte, Calif., (left) finished second. (AP Wirephoto)

Glance, McTear Make Olympics Track Favorite Williams Stalled By Injury

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Harvey Glance and Houston McTear, a pair of 19-year-old sprinters, and veteran Steve Riddick earned Olympic berths in the 100 meters Sunday as Steve Williams, who had been favored for a gold medal at Montreal, watched from the sidelines.

Glance, a freshman at Auburn, blazed to the tape in 10.11 seconds, his fastest time ever under automatic timing and a clocking that would have given him a gold medal at Munich.

McTear jumped out to a huge lead, but Glance brought the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials crowd of 12,500 people to their feet as he caught McTear with 10 meters to go.

McTear, who ran a world-record 9.9 for 100 yards last year in a high school meet in Florida, took second in 10.16, but he immediately pulled up, clutching his left hamstring.

"It appears that he has pulled some muscle fibers in his hamstring," a physician, Dr. Bob Larson, said of McTear, who was helped from the field.

McTear, whose 10.16 was his all-time best under automatic timing, is not entered in the 200 meters so he has a month before Montreal for the injury to heal.

Williams, the overwhelming favorite to win the 100 meters, dropped out Saturday when he pulled the hamstring muscle in his right leg. He planned to try again Monday in the preliminaries of the 200-meters dash.

Riddick, representative of the Philadelphia Pioneer Club, was third in 10.18 with Johnny Jones, the prep star from Lompas, Tex., next in 10.24 and earning the alternate berth should McTear be unable to compete in Montreal.

"I'd really like to make it in both sprints if at all possible," said Glance, who was entered in Monday's qualifying heats for the 200.

His time Sunday was the fourth fastest ever by an American. Riddick is one of the trio above him with his 10.05 last year.

Williams wasn't the only casualty in the first two days of the trials. Terry Albritton, the University of Hawaii shotputter who set an amateur world record of 71-8½ in February, finished fourth in the finals Sunday with 67-0 and Dan Ripley, indoor world record holder in the pole vault, failed to clear 17-0½ in the qualifying.

Al Feuerbach, a 1972 Olympian, and George Woods, silver medalist in 1968 and 1972, finished one-two with throws of 69-3½ and 68-2½, respectively, and last-improving Pete Smock, formerly of the University of Oregon, grabbed the third spot in 68-9½.

Mac Wilkins, the former University of Oregon strongman who holds the world mark of 232-4 in the discus, easily qualified for the finals in that event. His loss of 210-0 was second best among the 19 who advanced.

The top thrower of 212-2 was by 38-year-old Jay Silvester, who is seeking a berth on his fourth Olympic team.

Kathy Schmidt, American record holder in the javelin, won that event in the only women's final. Her throw was 213-5, under her U.S. mark of 218-3 set earlier this year.

Sherry Calvert of Lakewood International was second in 1917 and Karin Smith of UCLA earned the third berth with a loss of 187-0.

Carner Captures Classic

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) — JoAnne Carner burst into the lead, lost it, then sunk a nine-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole Sunday to break a three-way tie and capture the $50,000 Hoosier Classic on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

The Lake Worth, Fla., native, who won the inaugural showing of the tournament in 1974, fired a four-under-par 68 in the final round to capture first-prize of $7,000.

Pat Bradley, a 25-year-old, third-year pro from Westford, Mass., and Debbie Austin from West Palm Beach, Fla., tied for second at 211, one stroke off the pace.

Carner, who worked on her wedge shot for 90 minutes Saturday night, had six birdies and two bogies in the final round. She started the day two strokes behind Bradley, but birdied four holes on the front nine to tie for the lead.

Carner, Bradley and Austin were all tied at five-under heading into the 18th hole.

Austin missed a 20-foot birdie attempt before Carner made her winning putt.

Wilhelm Takes Lifting Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Defending champion Bruce Wilhelm related his super heavyweight title in the National AAU weightlifting championships Sunday, lifting a total of 385 kilograms and setting a meet record in the snatch.

The 324-pounder from York, Pa., broke the snatch mark with a lift of 170 kilograms. Wilhelm, who headed a list of nine weightlifters named to the U.S. Olympic team, also lifted 215 in the clean and jerk, the equivalent of 474½ pounds.

Sam Walker of Dallas, Tex., finished second with 362.5 and also earned a berth on the Olympic team.

In the heavyweight competition, Mark Cameron established three records in winning his division. The 242-pound Newport, R.I., lifter had a record total of 385. His snatch mark of 167.5 and clean and jerk effort of 217.5 also set championship marks.

Gary Drimmon of York, Pa., finished in second place at 360. Both Cameron and Drimmon made the U.S. team.

The York Barbell Club captured the team championship.

outpointing the Sayre Park Weightlifting Club of Chicago. Other lifters named to the Olympic team, which will begin training at York today for the Montreal games, were:

Dan Cantore, Pacifica, Calif., who was named the meet's top middleweight lifter; U.S. Army Sgt. Ashe Opening Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Ferdi Taygan, teen-age tennis player from UCLA, today faced the toughest Wimbledon baptism anyone could imagine: he opened the tournament on the famed center court against Arthur Ashe, the defending champion.

Taygan, of Framingham, Mass., was playing in Britain for the first time. And he had to face one of the world's great stars before 17,000 fans on a court that has been the center of world tennis for more than 50 years.

It was traditional for the defending champion to play the first match on the center court. Ashe was the top seed, but had to prove himself after some recent unimpressive performances since coming to England a little more than a week ago.

He was knocked out of the big warm-up event, a tournament at Nottingham, in the first round. Since then he has been practicing and trying to get the feel of English grass.

The stars in form included Jimmy Connors, the 1974 champion from Belleville, Ill.; Roscoe Tanner, the big server from Lookout Mountain, Tenn.; and Ilie Nastase, the temperamental Romanian.

Tannors has played in two grass court events in England in two weeks, at Beckenham and Nottingham, and reached the final each time. Tanner beat him in the final at Beckenham, and rain washed out last Saturday's Nottingham final against Nastase with the scores tied at one set apiece and 1-1 in the deciding third set.

Antonio Zugarelli of Italy played Connors in the first round. Martin Robinson of Britain faced the 140-mile-per-hour service of Tanner. Nikl Spear of Yugoslavia was Nastase's opponent.

The men were playing for a first prize of $21,875. The women's champion — women's play begins Tuesday — will earn $17,500.

Wimbledon was first played 89 years ago, and has been at the present courts for more than 50 years.

It remains one of Britain's great social events. All seats for the center court were sold months ago. The tents were up for the traditional tea and cakes and strawberries and cream.

The bookies, who take bets on Wimbledon at legal betting shops in every British town, made Connors the favorite at odds of 13-5. Ashe was 7-1, and Nastase, Tanner and Sweden's Bjorn Borg 10-1.

Chris Evert was favored to win the women's title. The crown was vacant because Billie Jean King, who won last year for the sixth time, has retired from singles play.

Ruthven Hurls Braves Past Cubs Phillies Give Reds No Respect

The Cincinnati Reds may be the defending World Champions, but they get no respect from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies have shown this season that they can play ball with the Reds — in fact, they've shown that they can play it better.

"Nothing they do surprises me," said Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark after his team beat the Reds 6-1 Sunday and won the deciding match of a three-game series.

The victory gave the National League East leaders a 4-2 edge so far in six games with Spunky Anderson's club. In a series earlier, the Phillies also won the set, two games to one.

The Phillies out-hit, out-pitched and out-fielded Cincinnati and reliever Ron Reed seemed to personify all their elan. Reed came into the game with the bases loaded, none out and the Phillies leading 4-1 in the sixth inning. The relief pitcher then struck out Tony Perez and Johnny Bench, both dangerous hitters, and got pinch-hitter Ken Griffey on a weak pop fly after Reed cut the Reds down in the sixth. Ollie Brown did the same in the seventh. Brown stymied a Cincinnati rally with a perfect throw from right field. Doug Flynn singled to open the Reds' seventh and moved to second on a base hit by Don Dreessen. When Flynn attempted to score on Pete Rose's single to right, Brown nailed him at home.

While Reed was knocking the Reds out of the game with his throwing and Brown with his fielding, starting Philadelphia pitcher Jim Kaat, 7-3, was clubbing them with his bat. He singled during a three-run second inning, helping the Phillies to all the runs they needed.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 9-5 in the opener of a doubleheader before the nightcap was rained out; the San Francisco Giants routed the New York Mets 9-2; the Montreal Expos edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4; the San Diego Padres ripped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4, and the Atlanta Braves blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-1.

Wilbur Howard's pinch single drove in the go-ahead run as Houston scored five times in the eighth off relief pitcher Bob Moose and beat Pittsburgh.

Tom Griffin pitched four hitless innings of relief for the Astros, raising his record to 3-1. A chilly drizzle fell throughout the game before the scheduled nightcap was washed out. Play was halted intermittently for the grounds crew to spread sawdust around home plate and the bases.

Ed Hallett, 5-10, knocked in three runs with two singles and, aided by late relief help from Randy Moffitt, pitched San Francisco past New York.

The Giants opened the game with a five-run, first-inning burst during which they produced five hits. The key blows were Darrel Thomas' run-scoring double, Ken Reitz' two-run single and Hallett's two-run single off New York left-hander Jon Matlack, 8-2.

Pete Mackanin's three-run homer capped a five-run outburst in the sixth inning that gave Montreal its victory over Los Angeles.

Mackanin, who delivered a game-winning single in Montreal's 2-1 victory over Los Angeles Saturday, smashed a 2-0 pitch from loser Burt Hooton into the left field bleachers for his fifth homer of the season.

Johnny Grubb's run-scoring double snapped a tie in the ninth inning and lifted San Diego over St. Louis. Grubb's hit came off former Padres hurler Bill Grief, 1-4, after the Cardinals had battled back and tied the score with two runs an inning earlier.

Grief retired the Padres' Fred Kendall before pinch-hitter

Gene Locklear stroked a single to left. Grubb, who earlier contributed a two-run single in a three-run Padres fourth inning, then delivered a lowering drive to left center that Baku McBride narrowly missed catching.

Darrell Cluniey drove in three runs with a pair of doubles. Rowland Office hit in his 25th straight game and righthander Dick Ruthven hurled a four-hit effort, leading Atlanta over Chicago.

Ruthven, 8-6, never permitted a runner past second base as the Braves won their third game from the Cubs in two days.

Finley To File Lawsuit

NEW YORK (AP) — Two teams plagued by losing streaks may look forward to a head-on confrontation knowing that one of the clubs will immediately begin a winning streak.

That's the situation for baseball and Charles O. Finley, as the Oakland owner was expected to file a multi-million dollar damage suit today or Tuesday against Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and his office.

Finley, who made his fortune in the insurance business, has gambled on the courts before and lost, while baseball, a sport fascinated by statistics, is battling 400 in recent legal tangles.

Nell Papiano, Finley's lawyer, said Sunday from Los Angeles that he would file one or five causes of action seeking damages "in the neighborhood of $10 million" and asking an injunction against Kuhn's order nullifying Finley's $3.5 million sale of three star players.

Papiano said the suit would be filed either in a state or federal court in California. "Whichever court we think will give us a quicker hearing," Papiano said.

Finley has been chasing California Hunter in the California courts ever since 1974, when arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled the star pitcher free because Finley breached Hunter's contract. He has lost once but, undaunted, Finley has appealed to a higher court.

Papiano said he expects a decision from the California Court of Appeals shortly.

Baseball also is on a losing streak, dropping its last two legal decisions. After Seitz ruled last December that an unsigned player could become a free agent after one year, the baseball owners went to federal court.

Seitz' decision was upheld there, and again in the appeals court. There was no appeal to the Supreme Court.

The Major League Players Association has been on the winning side of all these decisions, and now faces a dilemma — whether to join forces with Finley, a long-time adversary, or file an independent action against Kuhn.

"Obviously," said Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, "we're not going to stand around while the powers-that-be attempt to ruin the careers of three players."

"We can attach (join a previous suit) if we feel the action is properly brought," said Dick Moss, counsel for the Players Association. "But right now, we're waiting to see what the others do."

The New York Yankees, who bought Vida Blue for $1.5 million, are expected to take legal action against Kuhn. They promise an announcement early this week. The Boston Red Sox, who bought Joe Rudi and Holke Fingers for $1 million apiece, however, said they would not take any legal action.

"It just goes to show you how far out Bowie Kuhn is," Finley said. "When both Marvin Miller and the owner of a ball club are thinking the same way, the other person has to be wrong."

This Summer, Pretend Michigan's A Foreign Country. And You're A Tourist.

See Michigan. Free. We'd like to give you the June issue of Motor News.

It's more like a guidebook to Michigan than a magazine. It tells you where and when and how to find things you thought you had to leave the country for.

Pick a berry or a cherry. Or an apple or a peach. Right off a tree. We'll tell you where. There's a complete list of pick-your-own farms and orchards.

Find the summer festivals. There are strawberry, cherry, grape and even asparagus festivals going on all over the state all summer long. We'll tell you when and where every one of them is.

Buy a horse or rent one. Visit a horse farm or stay at a dude ranch. Go on a wilderness horseback trip. Or watch a harness race. Be a farmer. Spend a few days or a few hours. See a Centennial farm. Or a brand new one. Buy fresh vegetables at a farm market. Catch a 12" trout. Who'll believe you anyway? Drink a grape. Tour one of Michigan's many fine wineries. Listen to Beethoven or Chicago. There's great summer theater. And concerts. Under the stars or front row center. Buy a masterpiece. Or a piece of pottery at an art fair.

This summer, tour Michigan. You might find it's as much fun to visit as it is to live here.

Bay City Snaps Borgess Streak

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bay City Central snapped the 40-game winning streak of defending champion Detroit Borgess, beating them 4-1 to take the Class A high school softball championship Saturday.

The game was scoreless until the fifth inning when Bay City Central scored all four of its runs. Barb Swanteck, who broke into the scoring on an RBI single, was also the winning pitcher.

Losing pitcher was Mury Kay

Intyre, as Borgess finished its season 22-1.

In semifinal play, Bay City Central advanced by taking Kalamazoo Lay Norris 8-4 with Swanteck pitching a three-hitter. Detroit Borgess beat St. Clair Shores Lakeview 3-2 in nine innings in the other semifinal game.

Class B

Holland Christian took Tecumseh 7-2 to claim the Class B state high school softball title Saturday.

Winning pitcher Kathy Arendson went all the way with a four-hitter and eight strikeouts in the championship game, repeating her semifinal performance over Mason where she also had a four-hitter to win that game 6-4.

Linda Waterway had two hits for the winners, as did Kathy Van Wyk. Holland Christian decided the game early, gaining four runs in the first inning.

In the other semi-final game, Tecumseh got its revenge against rival Grosse Ile, winning 5-2 to hand Grosse Ile its only loss of the season. Tecumseh had only two losses all year — both the Grosse Ile.

Class C

Byron battered Kalamazoo Christian 17-10 to capture the Class C high school softball crown Saturday.

The Kalamazoo team led 10-9 at the top of the seventh inning, but Byron scored an impressive eight runs in the seventh to win the game and the title.

In morning semifinal action, Kalamazoo Christian pitcher Linda Koning struck out 10 batters to aid her team in a victory over Cass City, 5-2.

Byron beat Lake Fenton 19-8 in the other semifinal game, with that game ending early because of the 10-run rule.

Class D

Flint Holy Rosary beat Allendale 9-2 to repeat as Class D high school softball champions of the state Saturday.

The star of the game was Pat Denloki, who came in on relief for Holy Rosary with her team trailing 3-1 in the second inning. She held Allendale scoreless for the rest of the game, and also had three hits and two RBIs. Sally Lipp and Kelly Girard each had two hits for Holy Rosary.

Holy Rosary finished the season 22-5.

In the semi-finals, Holy Rosary defeated Whitmore Lake 8-4 and Allendale took Freesoll 7-0.

Fairplain Back On Victory Trail

Fairplain, after being one-hit by Paw Paw earlier in the week, jumped back on the winning bidwagon by taking a pair of Southwest Conio Mack league games over the weekend.

On Saturday, Fairplain dumped Hagar 7-2, and Sunday Richard Maxwell hurled a three-hitter as Fairplain beat Bangor 2-1.

In the only other games, Gobles downed Paw Paw 1-0 Sunday and Watervliet split a Saturday doubleheader with Bangor, losing the first 11-3.

Jon Hermann was the winning hurler on Saturday and Mickey Ashbrook took the loss. Gary Bartalone doubled and had two RBIs for the winners.

Bartalone knocked in the winning run in the second with a double and later scored on a past ball. In the fifth, he sacrificed in another tally.

Maxwell only struck out four batters but didn't walk a man. Tom Dirscoli singled in Bartalone in the first inning and Scott Mucia scored the winning run in the third when Bangor tried to cut down Bartalone who was trying to steal second.

Keith Wiles was the losing hurler for Bangor.

Fairplain is now 3-1 in the league while Bangor stands at 1-1.

Don Hopwood won the pitcher's duel against Karl Kroschinski Sunday as he struck out six, walked nine and gave up three hits. Gobles' only run came in the top of the seventh when Kevin Page singled, went to second on an error, to third on a past ball and scored on an infield single by Kruk Smith.

Carl Dentzman hurled a three-hitter in the first game, striking out 10 and walking three. Bangor put the game away in the fifth, scoring seven runs.

Mark Bolin took the loss for Watervliet.

Dave Whitaker turned the tables in the second game as he hurled a three-hitter for Watervliet. He struck out 11, didn't issue a walk and drove in a run. Roger Prince had two hits for the winners.

Plangger's Drops Two Of Three

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Plangger's fastpitch softball team dropped two of three games over the weekend in the Midwest Invitational here.

The local entry lost their opener 1-0 to Louisville, Ky., grabbed the second one 2-1 over Terre Haute, Ind. and then fell to the host Indianapolis 4-3.

Tom Frazier belted a leadoff homer in the fourth inning to hand Rick Plangger the first-game setback. Plangger took the loss, despite allowing just five hits.

Rich Plangger pitched a four-hitter and struck out six to keep Plangger's alive in the double-elimination tourney. Jeff Weaver scored both runs in the win over Terre Haute. It was Weaver's homer in the fifth inning which broke a 1-1 tie.

Plangger's held a 3-1 lead in its third game but Indianapolis scored three in the sixth to pull the contest out and eliminate the locals. Rick Plangger took the loss.

Plangger's, now 32-15, hosts Payette from Niles in a doubleheader at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Plangger's Park.

Ram Boss Still Fair

BUFFALO (AP) — Don Klostermann, general manager and vice president of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, remained in fair condition early today at a suburban hospital.

Klostermann, 46, was admitted to the intensive care unit at St. Joseph's Intercommunity Hospital in Cheektowaga Friday.

He had complained of chest pains while aboard a New York-to-Chicago flight. The American Airlines plane made an unscheduled stop at Buffalo International Airport to allow Klostermann to get medical attention.

BOMB ATTACKS DIDN'T HAPPEN

Shelter Is A White Elephant

By KENNIE REEVES
MUSKOGON, Mich. (AP) — The wood and concrete block bunker, deteriorating and often flooded with water, is a silent testament to the Cold War era.

It is located in Dr. Joseph A. Verschueren's backyard, and he wishes it wasn't.

"I'd like to get someone to take it out," said the Laketon Township veterinarian, "because it's destroyed the value of my land."

The 210-by-110 foot shelter was built in 1950 by a group of 47 Laketon Township families. It was designated to house about 200 persons in case Muskegon County experienced a nuclear attack.

Verschueren furnished the land, and the citizens agreed to provide the building materials, food and medical supplies.

The shelter never was used. And the food and other supplies stored inside it have long since deteriorated.

Two years ago, the Laketon Township Association that built and owned the shelter disbanded, and Verschueren is now sole owner of the shelter.

He used the shelter to house his boat and snowmobiles, but his goal is to get rid of it.

"It's like a white elephant," he said. "It's served its purpose."

The Laketon Township shelter is not the only one locally that reflects the easing of Cold War tensions in recent years.

Not all of Muskegon County's bomb shelters are "white elephants," but they are far from being in tip-top shape, according to Bernard Brondyk, Muskegon County Civil Defense director.

Ex-Viet Captive Is Doubtful...

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — The senior American prisoner of the Vietnam war says chances are slim to none that any prisoners from the original conflict are still alive.

But John Flynn said civilians captured last year, when Saigon fell, are probably still alive in Vietnam.

According to Brondyk's estimates, the 224 shelters now in the county could house adequately only 35 to 40 per cent of the population in the event of a nuclear attack.

And even those figures may be optimistic. Of the existing shelters, only 38 are stocked with food (hardback biscuits), medical supplies and water containers.

And the water containers are not filled, since stored water has a tendency to go flat. The containers would have to be filled in the frightening minutes after an attack warning.

Brondyk said urban renewal is one of the major reasons why the county's shelter system is in so-so shape. He said recent demolitions of buildings which had bomb shelters have decreased the number.

Except for federal buildings, there is no law that requires new buildings to have fallout shelters, he said. The new stores in the Muskegon Mall have no bomb shelters.

The inadequate shelter system is not limited to Muskegon County, Brondyk said. Other major cities in the state as well as the nation are experiencing the same problem.

He estimated that only 50 per cent of the nation's population could be protected adequately if the United States were embroiled in a nuclear war.

Brondyk said the government is responsible for stocking the federally controlled shelters but not for building them.

Other countries have fallout shelters superior to those in the United States, according to Brondyk.

Both Russia and Switzerland, for example, have shelter programs capable of protecting approximately 80 per cent of their populations in the event of a nuclear attack, he said.

Brondyk added that Russia spends about $1 billion a year on civil defense, while Swiss law requires all new buildings, including private homes, to contain fall-out shelters.

junior-senior high school is completed and ready to be furnished in time for fall classes. Front section (2) houses classrooms, with back section (3) containing gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium, band room, and shop area. Voters approved

$4,795,000 bonding issue to finance construction project which included five-classroom addition (4) to elementary wing. In upper left corner, work has already started on football field and track, baseball and softball diamonds and tennis courts. Portable buildings at far right, have been sold and will be removed. Old gym built in 1958, (behind old high school) will be used as elementary gym. Corridor connects elementary wing with junior-senior high. Sewage lagoons are at top right.

Souvenir Hunters Plague Restaurant Owners

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

Pilfering patrons produce problems for many Michigan restaurants. Someone in Niles walked off with a five-foot artificial tree, a Flint restaurant has its 40-pound Chinese temple bell chained to a wall after someone tried to steal it, and a Kalamazoo restaurant had to stop serving its house wine in small silver plated cups since all the cups vanished in less than five months.

The thefts don't stop there either. Patrons have walked away with silverware, glasses, paintings from the men's room, ash trays, menus, even wall paper from the women's restroom. One Battle Creek restaurant has found a partial solution. The Sonie Place Else now offers to sell its goblets, wooden handled steak knives, and leather-covered menus. Barbara Eddinger, one of the owners, says sales are great.

An Associated Press survey covering restaurants in seven areas across the state found thefts by patrons common. Tom's, south of St. Joseph, reported few problems.

"There's no proof that we lose a dime" from customer thefts, manager Herman Berghoff reported. But he conceded, "Sometimes ladies will take wallpaper samples from the bathroom walls."

Jon Gould, owner of Jackson's Point East, said it has few problems. "We keep plain and simple items on our tables."

But elsewhere the problems seem legion. "It's summertime and people are starting to furnish their cabins," Eugene Paris, owner of Danny's Restaurant in Burton, said when asked reasons for the thefts.

Arthur P. Makuck, president of the firm owning the Red Rooster in Flint, reported the case of the chained bell. He described other thefts, including at least a dozen coffee pots taken during the past decade. But Makuck added, "I lose almost as much by the help who throw things away accidentally."

Ross Racine, manager of the Win Schuler's at Stevensville said, "We tried putting out expensive items, such as pewter pitchers and salt and pepper shakers, but they last no more than six months." Racine said one customer was caught trying to take a yard-long ale glass out stuffed into his trousers.

At Saverino's in Hillsdale, the main problem is thefts of glasses, especially cocktail glasses, according to assistant manager Mary Barrett. Estimates of losses are difficult to obtain. However, Mike Frucci, manager at Franky's in Niles, estimated his losses are $2,000 per year. Even a plaque given his father as honorary member of a barbershop quartet was stolen from a restaurant wall.

Some restaurant executives blame women for many of the thefts, particularly of silverware which can be hidden in purses. Others say they have lost items far too large to fit any purse. "Since I haven't caught anyone, I don't know who is doing it," insisted Jim Frucci, owner of the Portofino in Niles. It was he who reported loss of the five-foot tree.

South Haven Banquet Honors Hutchinson

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Van Buren county friends of retiring Republican Congressman Edward Hutchinson honored the career public servant during a surprise testimonial banquet here Saturday night.

More than 250 people attended the event which honored both Congressman and Mrs. Hutchinson. The Hutchinsons came to South Haven thinking they were to have dinner with some friends who had supported him during past campaigns. He is not seeking re-election this year.

Hutchinson, now of St. Joseph, has been congressman from Michigan's Fourth district since 1962. Saturday's banquet was one day short of entrance into the political arena. On June 18, the anniversary of his 1946, the day after he was discharged from the Army, he was nominated as a candidate to the Michigan House of Representatives.

Keynote speaker was George C. Roche, president of Hillsdale College and nationally known for his college's position against governmental interference in private higher education.

Roche portrayed Hutchinson as being "representative of the spirit of independence that used to characterize our country."

"What it used to be, to be an American isn't so easy to define anymore because of the social, economic and political turmoil we are in," said Roche.

"However, there has never been a time when we didn't know where he (Hutchinson) stood. He hasn't let us down."

Roche called on the voters in the fourth district to elect a successor to Hutchinson of "strong conservative fiber; someone who will stand up for the body of principle this country was founded upon."

Roche concluded, "If we pick the right person we are going to say 'thanks' to Ed for his service."

Other testimonials were offered by state Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, and state Reps. Bela Kennedy of Bangor, Edgar Fredricks of Holland and DeForrest Strang of Sturgis.

A concurrent resolution of appreciation from the Michigan House and Senate was presented by Kennedy as well as written greetings from President Ford and state Sen. Gary Byker of Hudsonville.

Welborn praised Hutchinson for his record of voting for free enterprise and individual freedoms. Fredricks reflected that time will show that Hutchinson's philosophy reflected the foundation on which this country was founded. Among the many gifts presented Congressman and Mrs. Hutchinson was a loaf of homemade polish bread from Anna and Rudy Szczyk of Paw Paw who are both immigrants from Poland.

Walter Stiekels, of the Van Buren Board of Commissioners, presented a gift on behalf of county and local officials while John Watts, chairman of the Allegan GOP organization, did the same on behalf of his county.

Entertainment was provided by the carillon fall choir of Bangor, under the direction of Mrs. Jane Grier.

Deadline Set For Phone Book Corrections

SOUTH HAVEN — General Telephone company customers in Bangor, Covert, Grand Junction, Hartford and South Haven have until July 9 to make corrections or additions to the new directory, according to John Ver Beek, southwestern division manager. Most changes can be handled by telephone and a personal visit to the company's business office in South Haven is not required, Ver Beek said.

HUTCHINSON HONORED: Congressman Edward Hutchinson was honored at testimonial in South Haven Saturday night for years in public office. Hutchinson is not seeking re-election in this year's congressional

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Holding Steady

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed little change today, still struggling against the profit taking that showed up in Friday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials hovered around Friday's closing level in early activity today. Gainers look a slight lead over losers in the over-all count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market seemed to be balanced between encouragement over the outlook for interest rates and the economic recovery and doubts about whether the Dow was ready to push past its previous closing high for the year of 1,011.02.

Today's prices included Xerox, up 1/4 at 59 1/2; Atlantic Richfield, down 1/2 at 101 1/2; Glaxo, off 3/4 at 37, and Dow Chemical, up 1/4 at 51 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.34 to 1,001.80, failing to hold an early 6-point gain.

But advances held on for an 8.5 edge over declines among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index rose .12 to 55.28.

Big Board volume came to 25.72 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .55 at 104.88.

Gun Wound Hospitalizes Niles Man

NILES — A Niles township man was hospitalized last night after suffering what state police from the Niles post termed a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Listed in guarded condition this morning at Pawling hospital, Niles, was Russell Hite, 40, of 2432 Flora drive, Niles.

Troopers said the shooting, reported at 9:35 p.m., remains under investigation. Hite suffered a gunshot wound to the chest from a single-shot weapon designed to look like a writing pen, police said.

Irene Cass, 18, of Niles, described by police as a friend of Hite's daughter, Cindy, told police he found the wounded man slumped in the floor in the kitchen of the Hite residence.

Battery Explodes; Man Hurt

A Benton Harbor man was reported injured, but apparently not seriously, Sunday when a car battery exploded, splashing acid into his eyes, city police said.

Charles Brown, 24, of 745 Pavone street, was treated and released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, after the accident that occurred about 12:50 p.m. Brown said he was working on the engine of his car on Jefferson court near Broadway. Patrolman John Pagel reported he assisted Brown in washing out his eyes prior to the arrival of Rampart Ambulance attendants.

$125 MILLION

Iran Buying Into U.S. Oil Company

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran plans to invest $125 million in Occidental Petroleum Corp. stock in a deal providing for the U.S. firm's participation in development of Caspian Sea oil and in the processing and marketing of other Iranian oil, the government announced today.

The deal also includes Occidental's participation in cattle breeding in Iran and Iranian participation in the company's real estate operations and refineries.

In addition, Iran was given an option to buy $125 million worth of Occidental common stock.

The Iranian minister of economic affairs and finance, Hushang Ansari, and Occidental's chairman and chief executive officer, Dr. Armand Hammer, signed a letter of intent for the agreement Sunday. It requires approval by the Occidental board and the Iranian and U.S. governments.

Iranian officials said the transaction was as significant as Iran's purchase of a 25 per cent interest in the steel division of the West German Krupp industrial empire.

Under terms of the agreement, oil-exporting Iran will buy 6.23 million shares of Occidental's cumulative voting preferred stock for $125 million, entitling it to one seat on the Occidental board of directors, and will also get warrants for the same amount of common stock.

The warrants will be valid for 10 years and can be exercised after five years at $20 a share.

Joint exploration and development of Caspian Sea oil deposits will be the first involvement of a foreign company in oil operations in the huge inland sea between Iran and the Soviet Union. The Soviet government has been trying for many years to get Iran to join it in oil exploration in the Caspian, where Iranian-Soviet cooperation currently is limited to the caviar and fishing industries.

Hammer has been a pioneer in Soviet-American trade and has negotiated several large deals with the Russians.

Iran's agreement to let Occidental process and market some of its oil appears to be an attempt to get around the curtailment of exports by the consortium of other Western oil countries which handles the marketing of Iranian oil.

The consortium reduced its buying last October to 4.7 million barrels a day despite a 1973 agreement to take 6.3 million barrels. This caused a $2.4-billion deficit in Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's ambitious development and military budgets, and Iran threatened to cancel the 30-year marketing agreement with the consortium, which does not expire until 1993. The consortium increased its purchases to 5.7 million barrels a day by last month, but Iran has been pressing it to take more.

Leave Her Alone, He Says

ST. JOHNS, Mich. (AP) — The probation officer Carl Ann Fugate will report to wants the news media to leave her alone and let her adjust. "You've got your job to do and I've got mine," Robert Steinman, probation officer with the Clinton County Circuit Court, said this morning. "My main concern is her. My feeling is she's got some adjusting to do." Miss Fugate, 31, was released from a Nebraska prison Sunday after spending 18 years there for accompanying mass murderer Charles Starkweather on a killing spree in 1958. Steinman said he has not had any contact with Miss Fugate yet, and would not comment on when she would arrive in Clinton County, where in the county she will live or where she will work.

GM And Dealers In Radio Battle

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and many of its big-city dealers are engaged in a growing confrontation over whether the manufacturer or the dealer should supply radios for new GM cars.

GM's Delco Electronics Division, which makes car radios for plant installation, says it's been losing factory orders in recent years to independent distributors of foreign radios who are selling directly to dealerships, which in turn are installing the radios themselves.

Some GM officials say the dealers—most of them Chevrolet outlets in large metropolitan areas—are shunning Delco radios because they can buy foreign radios for substantially less and still charge customers the Delco price.

But dealers say they are buying from independent distributors because they can offer customers better radios and service at lower prices.

"Delco and the dealers are colluding over their respective self-interests," said one GM official. "Delco wants to sell all the radios it can, and the dealers want to cut costs and boost profits. The corporation, though, doesn't see this as a significant problem."

The rift between the company and the dealers affects only a small share of GM's total car sales, since nearly 90 per cent of the firm's cars come with a factory-installed Delco radio and a portion of the remaining 10 per cent are sold minus radios.

But the problem apparently bothered Delco enough to launch a national advertising campaign urging purchasers to "Tell your dealer 'Delco.' Don't settle for a look-alike radio in your new GM car."

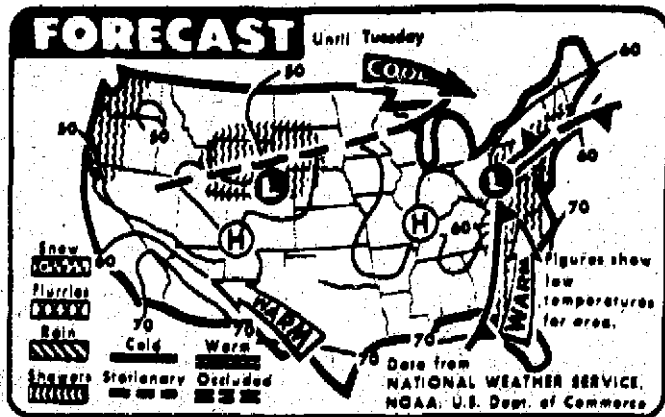

"I see this move as an attempt by Delco to control the radio market," charged a Chevrolet dealer in Michigan. The dealer, who also is a high-ranking official of the National Automobile Dealers Association, asked not to be identified because of his "delicate relationship" with GM.

"Foreign radios are a better product and they're cheaper," the dealer said. "Frankly, I think Delco is substantially overpriced."

A Chevrolet dealer in southern Michigan, who also asked not to be identified, said he has been turning more and more to foreign radios because they are easier to stock at his dealership, provide a greater variety of product, offer longer warranties and are less complicated to exchange in the event of a defect.

"The big advantage (of foreign radios) for us is the convenience," the dealer said.

He added that foreign radios cost him less than Delcos, although not significantly. "When we realize a savings we pass it on to the customer in terms of the total car price we quote. So the buyer benefits and we benefit because we can undersell the competition."
